RAF BOMBERS HAMMER NAZIS IN NIGHT RAIDS

Air Craft Factories Are Targets; U. S. Losses Low on Last Berlin Trip.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 10—Britain's four-engined Lancasters, striking again at Germany's aircraft production, reached far into southern France last night and bombed the large factory at Marignane near Marseille, the air ministry announced today.

The RAF strike kept allied aerial blows going around the clock following yesterday's bombing of Berlin through dense clouds by the American Eighth air force.

Already a shakeup of the top men of the German air force had been precipitated by the series of assaults of Berlin in which at least 324 Nazi planes were destroyed, Swedish dispatches reported.

The air ministry communique telling of the night operation said the large aircraft factory at Marignane was attacked in bright moonlight and first reports indicated the bombing as accurate and concentrated.

No Planes Missing

Mosquitos struck objectives in western Germany.

The air ministry said none of its planes was missing.

The Lancaster raid was the RAF's third night precision attack on German aircraft factories in France in a month.

A U. S. communique said yesterday's blow against the reich capital and a coordinated raid on unspecified objectives in central Germany—identified by the Berlin radio as Hannover—cost seven heavy bombers and one fighter, figures contrasting sharply with 88 bombers and 11 fighters lost Monday.

Although the Flying Fortresses, Liberators and their escorting Mustangs, Thunderbolts and Lightnings plunged through heavy anti-aircraft fire, most German planes apparently were grounded.

American fliers reported only minor encounters with the enemy.

The Swedish dispatch, published in the London Daily Mail and quoting neutral sources, said under a reorganization of Hitler's aid Command Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering would take a back seat and younger men with more specialized knowledge of fighter defense would come to power.

Cost 193 U. S. Planes

Yesterday was the second day in succession and the fourth time in six days American bombers had returned to the fire-blackened German capital.

Those raids have cost 193 American planes as against the minimum of 324 German planes known destroyed.

No accurate assessment of the new punishment inflicted upon scarred Berlin by the Americans has yet become available.

A U. S. Army headquarters announcement said last night the British-based Eighth air force and Italian-based 15th air force dropped 24,000 tons of bombs on Germany in February, aircraft factories being the chief targets.

FROM BUCK PRIVATE TO GENERAL. An Horatio Alger tale come true is the story of Brig. Gen. Frank Merrill, 39, youngest general in the U. S. Army, shown here with his family in their New Hampshire home. At present he is leading our forces in a successful drive against the Japs in northern Burma. He started his military career as a private, then attended West Point.

RED CROSS DRIVE GIFTS COMING IN

All Individual Contributions Must Be Made at Homes.

Phone calls, averaging almost 20 per day, have been received at the Red Cross office and by various drive chairmen from families who requested workers to call back because they had been missed during the house to house canvass. Others explained that they had been uncertain about the method of contributing and expected another member of the family to donate through their place of employment.

J. D. Torrance, drive chairman, emphasized today that all individual contributions must be given at the homes. Donations from firms, large or small industries, chain stores, etc. are listed as firm or store gifts only. Even the president or manager is expected to contribute his personal gift from the home.

Figures show that the store gifts this year are running 12 per cent more than amounts given last year by the store and employes combined.

Workers in the nine factories who contributed a day's pay to the Community Chest fund drive last November are reminded that only 2 per cent of that contribution goes into the present Red Cross drive fund. If that 2 per cent doesn't amount to the present $5 family quota workers are asked to contribute enough now from the home to make up the difference.

Families who wish to contribute again or those who have been missed may call the Red Cross office, Mr. Torrance or any of the following ward chairmen: First ward, Mrs. W. E. Buckingham; Second, Mrs. Nelson Irvin; Third, Mrs. E. W. Koeppen; Fourth, Mrs. A. G. Birch; Fifth, Mrs. Harold Meister and Sixth, Mrs. Paul Bachman.

Workers' reports listing the total subscriptions received to date will be given at the meeting to be held at 8 p. m. tonight in the War Fund Headquarters on East Center street.

Japs Make Second Attack on Marshalls

By The Associated Press

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, March 10—For only the second time since the American invasion of the Marshalls more than a month ago, Japanese planes have dealt a counterblow at the invaders.

Fleet headquarters announced that several formations of Nipponese bombers struck Wednesday at Eniwetok and a spokesman said the target was Engebi islet, an air base.

Where the planes came from was not stated.

Headquarters yesterday also reported that on Tuesday Army and Navy planes dropped 37 tons of bombs on five Japanese positions in the Marshalls.

ITALIAN FLEET IN NEWS AGAIN

President Declares He and Churchill Both Right About Reds' Share.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 10 — President Roosevelt asserted today that what he and Prime Minister Churchill had said about disposition of the Italian fleet was correct, that no controversy could be made of it and that he would violate military security by discussing what vessels might go to various places.

Mr. Roosevelt spoke in response to a question at a press-radio conference whether there was anything further that might be said about the status of the Italian fleet since "considerable comment, controversy or discussion" has arisen.

The President announced a week ago that a third of the Italian fleet, or its equivalent, might be turned over to Russia.

The President remarked that quite a lot of people had omitted some of his key words and he agreed with a reporter that those words were:

"Or the equivalent."

Churchill's Position

(Churchill told commons yesterday "the question of the future employment and disposal of the Italian fleet has been the subject of some discussion, and in particular consideration had been given to the immediate reinforcement of the Soviet navy either from Anglo-American or Italian resources." He said the question of ultimate disposal of Italian ships may not be settled until after the end of the war, and added that "at present no change is contemplated in the arrangements" whereby Italian ships and crews are operating against Germany.)

The full story of Italian fleet disposition indicates that most of the confusion and particularly the concern expressed by Premier Badoglio in Italy over what was to happen arose from the way in which the news was first made public.

At his press conference a week ago today President Roosevelt told questioners that roughly about one-third of the fleet or its equivalent was due Russia and that problems of arranging a transfer

U. S., BRITISH COMMANDOS ON YUGOSLAV SOIL

Detachment Lands on Dalmatian Coast Under Lead of Churchill's Son.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 10—"British and American commandos" under Capt. Randolph Churchill have landed on Lissa island off the Dalmatian coast of Yugoslavia, the Berlin radio said today.

The broadcast said Churchill, son of the British prime minister, had taken command of allied troops on the island, but it remained to be seen whether his forces would include 2,000 followers of Marshal Tito (Josip Broz) there.

Confers with Tito

Young Churchill recently conferred with Marshal Tito, presumably after he parachuted into Yugoslavia. The Berlin broadcast identified him as "a British general with the name of Churchill," but there was no doubt here that Berlin was talking about the prime minister's son. There was no immediate confirmation of the landing report.

Churchill, 32, was the first member of parliament to become a paratrooper. The allies have been giving aid to Tito's partisans, but there has been no official announcement of the presence of British commando or American Ranger troops in Yugoslavia.

Berlin said "there are several American and British commandos (at Lissa) under the command of General Churchill, comprising a total strength of about 1,500 men.

Some Raids Expected

"These detachments are probably designed to secure the island as a supply base and to guard American and British supplies located on the island on behalf of the Tito bands in southeast Europe.

"As these troops are solely comprised of single formations so-called commando raids must be expected at some points on the Dalmatian coast and on Dalmatian islands.

"These raids are of only small military value, but can well be exploited for reasons of propaganda, particularly toward Tito bands which, during the last few weeks, have complained about the lack of British and American support."

Lissa, an island about 10 miles long and five miles wide, is in the Adriatic 30 miles off the important port of Split. It is 120 miles east of Italy's mainland.

Tito's broadcast communique today said his forces were pressing a determined offensive in Slovenia, in northern Yugoslavia.

Deadline Tonight For County Candidates

Candidates seeking to have their names placed on the ballots for the primaries in May have until 6:30 o'clock tonight to file their petitions with the county board of elections.

Among those filing yesterday were James Reed who is seeking the Republican renomination for county prosecutor, Don H. Clements of north of LaRue, Carl Lehner of Marion and C. W. Seckel of Caledonia. All Republicans and candidates for county commissioner, and Walter W. Johnson, Republican, candidate for reelection as county engineer.

A number of persons having petitions in circulation were expected to file their papers before the deadline today.

NAZIS ABANDON BIG BASE IN UKRAINE

State Demands Death Penalty for Collett in McCoy Slayings

Prosecutor Calls Farmer Self Styled Executioner with Steel Nerves of Professional Killer.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON C. H., March 10—James W. Collett, in the closing hours of his murder trial, was called alternately today a "self-appointed executioner" and a "simple farmer subjected to the most refined torture that has been devised by man."

The state, in its closing summary, demanded that the slight, white-haired hog breeder accused of wiping out the Elmer McCoy family be sent to his death. The defense pleaded that he be spared and returned to a wife "deserving your pity and compassion."

As the trial rushed toward its close—the jury was expected to retire about mid-afternoon—the hog breeder sat tense and nervous.

Charles Kirk, summing for the defense, went back to that day in December when Collett confessed under a lie detector he killed McCoy.

"From early in the morning until he confessed," Kirk shouted, "the defendant was tied up to this instrument of torture, this modern rack, this lie detector. He was chained to that chair. Even though he may not have been beaten with a lead pipe, he was subjected to the most refined torture that has been devised by man. That is mental torture. He was grilled from 10:30 in the morning until he signed this confession."

"Eckerman (Lt. George Eckerman of the Toledo crime laboratory) was a man groomed in his art, more than a match for this simple farmer."

But Simon Leis, a prosecutor, declared that Collett was a man "who has the steel nerves of a professional killer." Striding toward the defendant, he shouted:

"I say to you Collett, you went too far. Man, when you killed Elmer McCoy, why didn't you stop? Remember little Mildred. Perhaps she, a little pigtailed girl sat on our knee."

Mrs. Collett, sitting by her husband, wept bitterly as Leis shouted and whispered, gesticulated and pointed. Her hands trembled and tears washed down her face. Collett, nervous, grew red; and their son, Thomas, stared constantly at the floor.

"The state of Ohio," Leis thundered, "is going to ask but one verdict—murder in the first degree, and we are specifically going to ask you to withhold the recommendation of mercy."

He traced the trial's testimony, coming to Collett's assertion that his confession of killing McCoy was put in his mouth, that he was mistreated.

"He got on that witness stand and told that impossible story, that he was the victim of a frameup," Leis said. "He's trying to crucify every public official connected with this case. Who lied on this witness stand? None other than this defendant."

He told of the finding of the bodies of McCoy, Mrs. McCoy and Mildred at their farm home last Thanksgiving day.

"They saw a scene," Leis said, "there that would cause any man to throw up his hands in horror. There was a young girl shot in the back of the head without a chance. On the porch was an elderly woman, not shot once by this vicious killer, but half a dozen times. Not certain he had killed her, he bent over her and buried into her brain the final shot. You talk about execution. This self-appointed executioner of the family of Elmer McCoy has the steel nerves of a professional killer. The defense goes so far as to accuse innocent people in order to save the worthless life of that defendant."

Cites McCoy's Position

He told of McCoy's body in the bar, a cigar stub in his mouth, a pool of blood under him, a tape measure nearby. He had been stooping, measuring a space between the wall and a feeder.

"While in that position this sneaking criminal crawled upon him and shot him in the back of the head," Leis went on.

"He thought he was shrewder than the law—he almost escaped it—but inside us all is a little fellow called conscience. All the time inside of him a voice was saying 'Jim,' what did you do? Jim, you went too far'."

And then Leis, turning from the jury of nine men and three women, walked toward Collett, pointing a finger, shouting:

"I say to you, Collett, you did go too far."

James N. Linton, chief defense counsel, objected to Leis turning from the jury, and Leis turned away from Collett.

"Greed for money," Leis asserted, "got this man to kill this family," and he recalled testimony that Collett told a friend of his, "If it weren't for the girl (Mildred McCoy) my son would inherit the estate."

He recited testimony of what happened last Dec. 1 when Collett confessed in Toledo that he killed McCoy, but insisted he was tricked into it.

"I never heard of anything more voluntary," Leis said. "I want you to look at the signature of J. W. Collett. There wasn't a trouble in it."

He said he had sympathy for Collett's family.

"They have a cross [illegible] the prosecutor went on, [illegible] of their lives. You [illegible] and gentlemen of the [illegible] that [illegible] your [illegible]

MARINES CUT JUNGLE PATH

Three-Mile Advance Made by Troops on Willaumez Peninsula.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, March 10—American Marines have cut their way three miles through the Japanese and jungle on Willaumez peninsula, New Britain, and are within two miles of the enemy base at Talasea, the allied communique said today.

The cleanup of enemy strength on Los Negros island in the Admiralties continues, and American warships and supply vessels have entered Seadler harbor, formerly fringed by Japanese coastal guns, without interference.

Rabaul, Japanese base in New Britain, which once sent planes and warships to pound American invaders in the Solomons islands, is virtually useless after weeks of hammering by allied aircraft and warships.

A headquarters spokesman said photographs showed not one undamaged ship remained in Rabaul's harbor, and less than 50 planes on its six airfields.

Solomons-based aircraft hit Rabaul in four attacks Tuesday, pasting the township, Lakunai and Tobera airdromes and shipping with 56 tons of bombs. There was no interception.

The Marines in their drive across Willaumez peninsula from the west have cut off groups of enemy tropos on the north tip of the peninsula.

American troops advancing west of Saidor on the northeastern New Guinea coast have reached Cape Rigny on Astrolabe bay. Madang, objective of the drive, is 20 airline miles away.

Allied planes attacked airdromes at Wewak with 56 tons of bombs and downed 17 of 40 Japanese fighters.

Solomons-based heavy bombers with escort dropped 65 tons of explosives on Panapai airdrome, near Kaviena, New Ireland.

Japanese stranded on Bougainville in the Solomons were believed massing for a last suicidal attack on American forces at Empress Augusta bay. Enemy artillery was silenced after shelling the two allied airfields there.

War Cabinet Ready To Crush Mine Strike

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 10 — The British war cabinet let it be known today that firm action will be taken to halt the coal strike which has virtually paralyzed the rich south Wales coalfields unless the 60,000 or more miners now idle return at once to the pits.

There was no official indication what the action would be, but labor leaders said the government was prepared to take over the mines as it did during the general strike of 1926.

Miners' delegates, meanwhile, went forward with plans for a conference Saturday, at which they will discuss [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Noted Humorist and Writer Dies After Long Illness at Age of 67.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 10 — Irvin S. Cobb, 67, humorist and writer, died today at his Hotel Sheraton apartment after a long illness.

Cobb had been ill for the past three months suffering from a series of complications including dropsy. At his bedside when the end came was his wife.

Grantland Rice, sports writer and friend of the family, who announced the death, said the funeral would be private but that further plans had not been made.

Wit Made Him Famous

Cobb, whose flashing wit made him famous on both sides of the Atlantic, leaped into big time journalism as the start of a career as writer, speaker and film actor, from that traditional seat of inspiration, a park bench.

It was 1904, six weeks after Cobb had gone to New York fresh from gratifying success as a newspaper man in his home state of Kentucky.

He was doing badly, had only $18 in his pocket and was sitting on the bench cogitating on the inhospitality of Manhattan. He glanced at a newspaper.

"I was struck with something I hadn't noticed before—the flippant tone used toward important people—something unheard of in southern journalism," Cobb related. "Well, I just said to myself, if this kind of derisive attitude is what they like, maybe the same tone in a letter might hit some of these editors."

The letters he sent hit several editors, and Cobb selected a job on the New York Sun. A year later he was on the staff of the Evening and Sunday World, one of the highest paid evening paper reporters in the world. He was

GERMANS TELL OF DEPARTURE

Uman Yielded; Reds Take to Horses as Mud Stops Vehicles.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 10—The German radio announced today that Nazi troops had abandoned Uman, one of their strong bases in the western Ukraine.

Uman, a rail head, lies about 25 miles east of the Bug river. It is at the hinge between the Russian drive toward Nikolaev and the other Soviet southern Ukrainian drive into old Poland on the west.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, March 10—The Red army took to horses in the deepening mud of the Ukraine today as the offensives of Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky and Marshall Gregory K. Zhukov rolled the Germans back on a 340-mile long front from the streets of Tarnopol to the outer defenses guarding the Black sea ports of Nikolaev and Kherson.

It is fully apparent the last Nazis are being chased from the southwestern corner of the Soviet union, but only under tremendous difficulties, front line dispatches to the Moscow newspapers Red Star and Izvestia said. They reported the whole area was one great inland sea of mud and water.

The German garrison in Odessa was said to be feeling the pressure of the growing offensives as remnants of battered German divisions commenced falling back upon Nikolaev, Kherson and the outposts of Odessa, where only speedy evacuation can save thousands of Nazis from entrapment.

Nazi Retreat Disorganized

From the third Ukrainian front commanded by Malinovsky came reports emphasizing the use of cavalry and small groups of infantry with light mortars.

Red Star dispatches said bluntly the German retreat had become "disorganized."

The Nazis were still holding one escape route westward from the Dnieper bend—the railway running from Novo Ukraine and Pomoshnaya just below Kirovograd to Pervomaisk, from where two lines run west to Slobodzeya and Rudnitsa on the Odessa-Warsaw trunk railway.

But strategically the Germans have lost the Dnieper bend and their purpose now is to see what they can save in men and equipment.

Zhukov, dispatches said, appeared intent on consolidating his forces along the Odessa-Warsaw railway. His newest thrusts, following capture yesterday of Staro-Konstantinov and the Kazatin region, apparently are aimed at filling out the sector southwest of the junction town of Proskurov.

8,000 Nazis Killed

Malinovsky's third Ukrainian army, in four days of intensive fighting, routed nine German divisions and captured Novi Bug and Grozhan, respectively 53 and 40 miles above Nikolaev, and Kazanka, 17 miles northeast of Novi Bug.

Eight thousand Germans were killed and 1,000 captured in this advance, the Russian communique asserted.

Zhukov's right wing made short work of the Tarnopol defenses, advices indicated. Previously reported nine miles from that key rail junction on the Odessa-Warsaw trunk railway, Red Army infantry, buttressed by tank units, swept over enemy lines, "burst into the town and engaged the enemy in street fighting," the Moscow bulletin said.

PERMIT SERVICE MEN TO ACCEPT OFFICE

By The Associated Press

"Be Kind To Customers," Sales Expert Advises Audience Here

National Wave of Discourtesy in Business Places Threatens Future of the Guilty, Wheeler Tells Marion Group.

Elmer Wheeler, nationally known sales consultant, deplored what he described as a national wave of discourtesy and unpoliteness on the part of sales clerks, waitresses, laundry workers and others, and pointed to the present as a golden opportunity to sell good will when he spoke to a near-capacity crowd of 400 in the Thomas A. Edison Junior High school last night.

Appearing on a program arranged by the retail division of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, he built his entire talk around the theme of "how to say no" to a customer in such a way that the customer will go away with kind feelings toward both the salesperson and the business—or at least not muttering unpleasant threats to boycott the business for the rest of the year.

Ashley Grange Aids Red Cross Drive

Special to The Star

ASHLEY, March 10—Approximately $250 was raised for the Red Cross at the benefit Meakl supper and amateur show sponsored by the Ashley grange last night in the school building. The benefit was staged as a challenge to other granges in the county to raise a similar amount in the Red Cross drive.

A quarter of beef, donated by J. W. Henry, grange master, provided the steaks and the supper was prepared and served by the women of the grange.

In the amateur show, Lonna Shults, six years old, won the award in a contest for school pupils from the first to the sixth grades, and her singing also won the grand prize. A trumpet-flute trio composed of Dick Ruark, George Strohm and Billy Fry won the honors in the contest for pupils from the seventh to the 12th grades. There were no entries in the adult contests. The awards were paid in war savings stamps. An auction netted a substantial sum and included a cake which brought $10, lard and butter. Mr. Henry was master of ceremonies.

Army Discloses WACS Communicated with Nazis

CAMP HALE, Colo., March 10—Military disclosures that five WACS exchanged notes with German war prisoners and that eight American soldiers helped two prisoners escape emerged today from investigation of the Germans' flight from Camp Hale with an accused traitor.

An army announcement made clear, however, the notes were not linked with the escape of the Germans who were captured in Mexico Feb. 18 along with Pfc. Dale Maple, 23, of San Diego, Calif.

Maple, a camp guard, was charged with helping the prisoners flee on Feb. 15 and is being held for trial by court martial on military charges similar to civil code treason.

Statements obtained from Maple, the announcement said, involved the other eight soldiers.

GENERAL LISTS WHAT WE'RE FIGHTING FOR

Speaks on Army Service Forces Anniversary.

By The Associated Press

FORT BELVOIR, Va., March 10—What is the nation fighting for?

For this, says Lieutenant General Brehnon Somervell, commanding general of the army service forces:

"We fight for simple things, for the little things that are all-important. We fight for the righ to lock our house doors and be sure that no bully with official sanction will break the lock.

"We fight for the town meetings, for the soapbox in the public square, for the High school debating team, for open doors to cathedral and church and synagogue.

"We fight for the country editor and for the metropolitan daily and for the editor's right to say the wrong thing if he thinks it's right.

"We fight for the right to organize for any decent purpose: for labor; for employer; for the Grange and the Legion and the ladies' literary club and for lodge meetings in full regalia on Tuesday nights.

"We fight for our candidate for sheriff and for the other fellow's candidate for the right to be sorry we elected him and to say so.

"We fight for free radio, for the right to listen to what we want and to turn off what we don't want.

"We fight for the high privilege of throwing pop bottles at the umpire."

"For these things we fight," said Gen. Somervell in a speech prepared for delivery yesterday upon the anniversary of the army service forces.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

FAVORS USING CHURCHES

Editor of The Star: I noticed in Wednesday night's edition a letter about the Holy Week being held in the Marion theater. I don't approve of this and speak for others also who don't approve of it. And like the boy who wrote he was not a Christian, I do go to church and encourage my children to go. I also think there are churches and schools large enough to use instead of theater, and I don't think Jesus approves of this and certainly would not come and pick His people out of this group holding Holy Week service in a theater.

"Our churches were built for worship of Jesus." Let us use them, not a theater. Let's all go to church more and pray more and for our boys and our country too.

MRS. J. W. JENKINS,
421 Uncapher Avenue.

CALLED "UNRIGHTEOUS"

Editor of The Star: I read the article on Holy Week, and I believe it is an unrighteous outrage to even consider having church services in a theater.

I am a Christian, and I take my stand because of what Jesus has done for me, and is still doing.

When the church walks along with the world, looks like the world, goes to the same places, dons the same make-up, etc., as does the world, so that your fellowmen can't tell whether you're a Christian or not, it's time to fall on your knees in prayer that the good Lord above will have mercy on your sinful soul and cast out the carnality which dwells in you, on you, and with you.

If you are in such a condition do you think the merciful God, the all-knowing God, could or rather would go through a theater to pick out those of you who were misled? Not hardly! There are too many today who are in the same boat.

A good Christian student wouldn't attend an assembly at a theater, much less a church service.

I think the person who thought up that idea should ask the Lord for His divine leading and also repent for disgracing the name of "Jesus" in thinking up such an unholy idea.

Why, when Marion has such a number of large churches do a few people want and expect the church to march along and hodl hands with the rest of the sinful world?

VANDENBERG ASSAILS MAGAZINE ARTICLES

Says War Department Permits Partisan Distribution.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 10—Senator Vandenberg, Republican, of Michigan, protested in the senate yesterday that the war department is permitting the circulation of "prejudicial and partisan" magazine articles to the troops at home and abroad through service established by the Army War college.

Criticizing the circulation of what he described as "smear" article entitled "General MacArthur, Fact and Legend," Vandenberg told his colleagues:

"I think the war department had better concentrate on the war abroad instead of the political war at home."

The Michigan senator said the war department's library bulletin for February described the MacArthur article, authored by John McCarten, as "a comprehensive and objective appraisal of the general as presidential timber, with special reference to the character of his backers and an analysis of his military reputation before Pearl Harbor and afterward."

Vandenberg, who has proposed that the Republicans draft MacArthur as their presidential nominee, said he wanted to know what right the war department had to circulate such material.

BREAK WITH AXIS, U. S. ASKS IRELAND

By The Associated Press

BELFAST, NORTHERN IRELAND, March 10—The United States has asked neutral Eire to close the German legation and the Japanese consulate as an anti-espionage measure to protect allied troop movements in northern Ireland.

Although a note presented late in February by David Gray, U. S minister to Eire, contained no ultimatum and no demand for southern Ireland bases, rumors arose that such demands had been made. A "stand to" by Eire's army was ordered along the Ulster border from Feb. 25 to Feb. 28.

The British government approved the American note, but the United States is handling the job of trying to plug this information outlet to the axis.

News of the development reached Belfast early this week, but transmission was banned by British censorship until today.

President Roosevelt was reported to have assured Robert Brennan, the Irish minister to Washington, there was no question of force and that the note simply was a request as a matter of urgency that something be done against axis activities in Eire.

U. S. WAR CASUALTIES NOW TOTAL 162,282

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 10—American casualties in this war so far total 162,282, of whom 37,853 are dead.

Secretary of War Stimson, at a news conference yesterday, announced that Army casualties (as of Feb. 23) totaled 121,458. Of this number, 20,592 were killed, 47,318 wounded, 26,326 are missing and 27,222 are prisoners of war.

The latest Navy total is 40,824, made up of 17,261 killed, 9,910 wounded, 9,239 missing and 4,414 prisoners of war. These figures cover the Marine Corps and Coast Guard as well as the Navy proper. Of the total casualties the Navy has suffered 27,383, Marines 12,986 and the Coast Guard 455.

Stimson said that of the 47,318 Army wounded, 25,291 have been returned to duty or discharged. Of the 27,222 prisoners, Stimson said, the enemy has reported 1,673 have died of disease in prison camps. These deaths, Stimson commented, occurred mostly in Japanese-occupied areas and the total probably is larger than reported by the enemy.

James Rouse Dies At Home Near Richwood

Special to The Star

RICHWOOD, March 10—James Rouse, 66, of four miles west of Richwood, died of heart trouble, at his home this morning at 5 a. m. Born in Union county to Arthur and Samantha Baldwin Rouse, Jan. 10, 1878, he married Miss Etta M. Bennett in 1918, in Marion. Mr. Rouse was a farmer.

Surviving with the widow are the following children: Pearl, stationed in Ireland with the Army; Mrs. Bertha Pauline Furay of Plain City; Dorothy and Madeline, at home. Also surviving is a brother William of Richwood, and two sisters, Mrs. Alice Johnsen of Prospect, and Mrs. Lydia Barth of Edison.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Russell Myers, Sunday at 2 p. m. at Sanders Funeral Home in Richwood. Friends may call at the funeral home.

BRICKER SEES G.O.P. VICTORY IN NOVEMBER

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 10—Division among party leaders is "the only thing that can prevent a Republican victory" at the polls this year, says Gov. Bricker, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

"But as for me," Bricker said in an address last night, "I am personally more interested in defeating the New Deal and its absolutism than I am in being elected president of the United States."

The three term Ohio governor, declaring "Democrats are coming into the Republican party by the millions," asserted the "basic issue of our time is whether one man or one party shall permanently regiment 130,000,000 Americans, or whether they shall continue to govern themselves through time-tested institutions of self government.

"Our American system was intended to be a government of and by laws. Under the New Deal it has become a government of and by men. During the past 11 years those in power in Washington have permitted this nation to be blown off its course by the winds of absolutism, emanating from Europe."

Bricker, who addressed the John Ericsson Republican league, suggested that "positive action" on four fronts is required "if this country is to purge itself one man or one party rule." He said "needless bureaucracy" must be eliminated through a new administration; policy making should be left to congress; centralization of power in Washington must be ended, and the people must be "given the facts on every issue" so they can express their will.

Guild Celebrates 55th Anniversary

The fifty-fifth anniversary of Harmonie Guild of Salem Evangelical church, was celebrated when it met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Agnes Washam of 341 Powhattan street. A potluck lunch was served at noon with the business and program following. Devotions were led by Mrs Frank Schaffner, who also gave a short history of the fifty-five years. Donations of $10 to the choir robe fund and $5 to the Red Cross were made. Guests were Mrs Jay Scribner of Galion and Mrs. Clara Watzel of Caledonia.

He suggested three fundamentals of such a policy. First, "Take an hour to say no." He explained he meant this figuratively, but emphasized that abrupt answers and laughs of ridicule were the worst kind of ways to tell a customer "no." Second, "Don't ration courtesy and patience." Third, "Look for familiar faces," and don't slight them even though you are rushed by the plentiful flow of new money. "You'll need those familiar faces as friends after the war," he warned.

As a closing suggestion, he said, "Don't yell at your customers—weep with them."

He gave several selling tips, including one about how to quote merchandise that carries heavy taxes. "Don't quote a $50 price on an article and then later tell the customer there's $5.30 taxes to be added. Tell them the price is $55.30, including everything," he urged.

FLEET

according to that formula were only about half solved.

At that time, it can now be reported, the problems had been under study by military authorities for several months. They were created in the first place by terms of the Italian surrender last September.

Russians Make Inquiry

Sometime after the surrender, the Russians made an inquiry which was, in effect, "what about our share of the fleet."

At that time it seemed likely Turkey would come into the war. Turkish belligerency probably would have resulted in clearing the eastern Mediterranean. That would have permitted the Russian-Italian ships to move into the Black sea where the Russians could have used them to great advantage.

The disposition of Anglo-American staff chiefs then was of make an actual split of the Italian navy, leaving two-thirds in the Mediterranean and transferring the other third to Russia for the rest of the war. But as Turkish negotiations dragged, the fleet problem dragged with them and at various times came up for review.

As a result of continued study, military leaders concluded best results would be had by keeping all the fleet in the Mediterranean and transferring to Russia an equivalent amount of British-American ships. Because of American productive capacity, it appears that most of the transferred ships will be of American origin.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Judge, would you mind tellin' Charlie here what you told me the other night walkin' home from lodge. I can't word it just the way you did."
"Sure thing, Tim. Here's what I told him, Charlie. There's no such thing as votin' a nation, a state, a county, or even a community dry. We had proof enough of that during our 13 years of prohibition. What you really vote for is whether liquor is going to be sold legally or illegally...whether the community is going to get needed taxes for schools, hospitals, and the like, or whether this money is going to go to gangsters and bootleggers. That's the answer, boys... simple as A-B-C."

Social Affairs

PLANS for the spring months were completed yesterday noon at Hotel Harding when the Lecture-Recital board met for luncheon. Coming programs and club events include: the Edwin Arthur Kraft organ recital Monday, the Junior club program, presenting Dolores Holtz, March 27; also an exchange program with Upper Sandusky, to be given by the Junior group in the First Reformed church at Upper Sandusky, March 15; and the Civic chorus program on May 7, in which Lecture-Recital chorus will present a number.

Mrs. H. K. Mouser reported on the music and plans for Fine Arts day, May 3. Mrs. Griselda Davis Dombaugh announced that plans were in the making for radio programs by both the Junior and Senior Lecture-Recital clubs. The president appointed Mrs. Richard Jennings to report on "Music in Industry" at the next board meeting. Mrs. W. S. Sibberson was named to form a "listening" opera group.

Mrs. Wallace Patten of 184 Reed avenue entertained the Homemakers Study club Monday evening. Mrs. Ernest Weiss, returned Missionary from China, was guest speaker. Contest prizes were won by Mrs. Virgil Adams and Mrs. Kenneth Coon. Guests were Mrs. W. Barton, Miss Vera Brattin, Mrs. Frank Snyder, Mrs. Ernest Weiss, Mrs. Harry Setter, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Warren Adams, Mrs. Leroy Stull, Mrs. Fred Bender, Mrs. Emerson Loyd, and Mrs. Kenneth Coon. Refreshments in keeping with St. Patrick's day were served by the hostess with Mrs. Howard Tittlebaugh as assistant hostess.

Mrs. Oscar Foos was enrolled as a new member when the Never Fail club met Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Sperry Long of Green Camp pike. Mrs. John Ruth read the Scripture and was in charge of the program. Two vocal numbers were given by Mrs. William Uncapher and Mrs. Ruth conducted a quiz and a truth and consequences game. It was decided to donate the contents of the mystery box each month to the Marion canteen. Guests were Mrs. Dow Bates, Mrs. Reed Fetter and Mrs. Robert Uncapher.

Mrs. George Wingett entertained the L. F. D. club Wednesday night at her home on Mary street. Plans were discussed for a potluck supper to be held in the near future. Honors in bridge were won by Mrs. Cyril Blow, Mrs. Maynard Snyder and Mrs. Harold Wolfe. Mrs. Burdette Jones was consoled. During the lunch, which was self served from "Maggie's Diner," several piano numbers were played by Mr. Wingett.

Australia was the program topic at the meeting of Three Arts club Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Fields of South Vine street. Mrs. Clarence Weber was assistant hostess. A report was made that the club had given $26.50 to the Red Cross for service kits. The annual contribution to the Federation forest in Southern Ohio was made. Mrs. George Ulsh read a paper on "Australia" and Mrs. Charles Phallen read "The Country Down Under", which was prepared by Mrs. G. W. Pfleiderer.

Mrs. Melvin McClenathan, a recent bride, was complimented with a miscellaneous shower given last Friday evening by Mrs. Helen Miller and Miss Juanita Metzger at the home of the latter, 315 Columbia court. The shower gifts were found by following streamers of pink and blue, the bride's colors. Awards in games were won by Miss Margaret Howser and Mrs. Eunice Klinefelter and the guest of honor. Guests were Mrs. McClenathan, Mrs. Helen Kelly, Mrs. Eunice Klinefelter, Mrs. Ruthella Pollock, Margaret Howser, Ruth and Marjene Pollock, Miss Hazel McChesney, Miss Marguerite Loyer, Miss Clara Klinefelter, Miss Helen Miller, Weldon Bender, Russell Wickersham and Miss Charlotte Trefz.

Mrs. Howard Swink entertained the Round Table club Wednesday evening at her home on Summit street. Twenty-five dollars, which originally was budgeted for guest day, was donated to the Red Cross fund. Mrs. Dewey Bohyer, in the absence of Mrs. Don Howard, presented the program. She read a paper entitled "Highlights of Dutch East Indies." Mrs. W. O. Nippert presented a paper on "Important Products of Dutch East Indies."

Mrs. Randolph Anthony of 481 Elgin court was hostess Tuesday evening when Le Meres Study club met at her home. Mrs. John Matthews led a discussion on "Child Discipline." Contests were won by Mrs. C. M. Cratty and Mrs. Matthews. A St. Patrick's theme was followed in the serving of refreshments and the hostess was assisted by Mrs. C. W. Minnick.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Willmeth were presented a gift when several friends and relatives called at their home at 544 Avondale avenue Wednesday evening to celebrate their silver wedding anniversary. Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Jake Moore and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Starner, Mrs. Minnie Willmeth, Mrs. Eileen Alexander and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Whittington and daughters, Chardell, Naomi and Clara Willmeth.

Word has been received of the marriage of Clifford E. Smith, seaman second class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Smith of 332 Park street, to Miss Wanda Nixon. The wedding took place in Norman, Okla., on Feb. 19, with Rev. Pearl K. Steinmeyer reading the ceremony. Mrs. Ella Woods and James Autry were witnesses.

Seaman Smith enlisted in the navy in August of 1943 and has been stationed as a seaman guard at Norman since November. Miss Nixon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Nixon of Middleburg, Okla., and is a worker in the Norman Canteen.

SWAN CO. ORDERED TO REHIRE WORKER

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, March 10 — The United States labor relations board today, acting on a decision of the trial examiner R. N. Denham, who conducted hearings on complaints that two Swan Rubber company employes allegedly dismissed because of union activity, ordered the company to reinstate one of the employes in question but failed to take action on the other complaint.

The Swan company, manufacturers of rubber hosing now working on government contracts, was ordered to reinstate "without prejudice" Warren A. Boaworth. In the case of the dismissal of Lewis Cole the trial judge found that the dismissal was not due to union activity and found that the "circumstance is beyond the board's jurisdiction."

Other recommendations by the trial judge include that the company cease discouraging membership in the United Rubber Workers or any other union; cease interfering with the rights of self organization; post immediately in conspicuous places in the plant and maintain for 60 days a notice to employes that the company will not discourage nor interfere with union organization within the plant; and that the company will not discriminate against its employes because of membership.

Paul DeBolt Elected Morrow Co. REA Head

MT. GILEAD, March 10—Paul DeBolt of near Fredericktown was elected president of the Morrow Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc., Wednesday night, at a meeting of the board of directors. He succeeds O. R. McMillan of near Marengo.

D. A. Snyder of near Galion was elected vice president to succeed DeBolt. Walter Lemley of near Mt. Gilead was reelected secretary, and A. L. Vaughan of south of Mt. Gilead was elected treasurer to succeed Goorley Rhodebeck of near Chesterville.

A leave of absence for the duration and six months was given Howard Clapper, manager of the cooperative.

DeBolt was named voting delegate to the second annual meeting of the national association of REA cooperatives to be held March 20 and 21 in Chicago. McMillan was named alternate, and will also serve on the resolutions committee.

Navy Air Squadron Sets Record in Pacific

By The Associated Press

ADVANCE SOUTH PACIFIC AIR BASE, SOLOMON ISLANDS, March 10—The land-based Navy squadron—skull and crossbones—Tuesday completed its second tour of aerial duty after destroying 156 Japanese planes, 16 barges and five cargo ships.

Only 13 pilots were lost, the squadron's record being 12 Japs downed to every one American lost, over Rabaul. Its mark of 156 enemy ships shot down is a record in the southwest Pacific for two tours of duty—unmatched by any other squadron.

They have a record of never having lost a bomber they were protecting, and they guarded 40 missions over Rabaul.

Aces in the squadron include Lt. (jg) Howard McClaid Bussiss, Granville, O., missing since Jan. 31.

Two Marion Medical Officers Graduated

Capt. Daniel W. Brickley Jr. of 387 Mt. Vernon avenue and Capt. Harris S. Wendorf, former medical director with the U. S. Rubber Co. here, were among officers graduated Thursday from the medical field service school at Carlisle Barracks, Pa., according to word from the training school there.

Capt. Brickley is the son of Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Brickley. Before his commission and assignment to training on Jan. 19 he was associated with his father as eye, ear, nose and throat specialist.

Capt. Wendorf came to Marion in 1942 and received his commission and training assignment on Jan. 20.

OHIO BOARD MAPS WATER SUPPLY PLAN

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 10 — The Ohio water supply board hopes to have a municipal and industrial water conservation plan ready for the legislature by January, 1945, the Ohio post-war program commission was told yesterday.

David H. Harker, chief of staff and engineer of the board, said there were two main reasons for municipal water shortages in Ohio: concentration of heavy industries and public resistance to change.

He listed Mahoning valley and Mill Creek valley as the two largest problems in the state. Warren and Youngstown need 1,200,000,000 gallons of water daily and are getting only 211,000,000 gallons he said, necessitating reuse of the water six times.

Other cities and towns with major problems Harker listed as Springfield, Canton, Wilmington, Hillsboro, Bowling Green, West Union, Oak Hill, Shelby, Crestline, Bellevue, Circleville and Eaton.

Canton and Springfield know the answer to their problems and probably will correct their situations after the war, he said.

He cited Akron as a good example of foresight and planning.

Dr. Wilbur Stout, state geologist, discussed the industrial possibilities of Ohio's vast mineral wealth. Only Pennsylvania is ahead of this state in diversified mineral deposits, he said.

As an example of the state's untouched wealth, he mentioned the 7,000-square mile salt bed eastern Ohio. This bed is 50 to 250 feet deep, he s

Poll Shows Majority Prefer Drafting Single Women To Calling Fathers

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 10—Major General Lewis B. Hershey's recent statement that the selective service is "scraping the bottom of the manpower barrel" in its search for more than a million persons by July 1 once again throws into sharp focus the question of drafting single women for non-combat military service.

When the voters of the country are asked to choose between the alternatives of calling up more fathers or resorting to a draft of single women for non-fighting jobs, the vast majority would prefer to see women drafted first. This view is held by women as well as men.

Sentiment on the issue was measured throughout the country as follows:

"The Army can either draft 300,000 single women aged 21-35 for the Waac for non-fighting jobs, or it can draft the same number of married men with families for the same work. Which plan would you favor?"

Here is the vote today and a comparison with a similar survey in December, 1943:

	Today	Dec.
Think Single Women Should Be Drafted	75%	78%
Think Married Men Should Be Drafted	16	15
Undecided	9	7

Moreover, there is little evidence in any of the surveys made so far on this question that the women of the nation would oppose a draft of single women.

In fact, the women themselves have all along been in favor of calling up single women first by a greater majority than men, and it should be noted that included in the present survey are a substantial number of women who either might themselves be called up or who might have daughters eligible for draft under such a plan.

The following table shows the actual vote of the women in the survey as compared to the vote of the men:

	Women	Men
Draft Single Women	78%	72%
Draft Married Men	13	19
Undecided	9	9

BURMA CAMPAIGN CRISIS FOR JAPS

By The Associated Press

NEW DELHI, March 10—So fast is Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell forcing the fighting pace in north Burma that a crisis which will make or break this year's Burma campaign is now rapidly approaching.

Critics who scoffed at possibility of a major Burma action this year have begun to show surprise and interest in the fact that, with limited resources, "Vinegar Joe" has forced his way approximately 100 miles into north Burma.

The leathery-faced general is rapidly confronting the Japanese with a major decision—They must draw forces from other Burma fronts or permit Stilwell to accomplish his objective relatively unhindered. His aim is to clear the Japanese from north Burma so he can build a new link to the Burma road to carry supplies to China.

Critics have questioned the military and engineering feasibility of Gen. Stilwell's Ledo road from northeast India down the Hukawng valley and on to north central Burma, where it would hook up with the old Burma road.

Stilwell's reply to both objections was given recently when he said his forces had already accomplished what he had been told was "impossible."

PROTECT GAS ORDER

By The Associated Press

TIFFIN, O., March 10—A group of 150 Seneca county farmers formally protested yesterday against an office of price administration ruling requiring township agriculture adjustment administration boards to approve non-highway gasoline rations. Spokesmen H. H. Fackler of Plymouth and Rolla Myers of Attica told the county OPA board the group considered the AAA check on gasoline needs regimentation.

One of Marion's Urgent Needs

THE annual argument over Marion's miniature High school basketball gym has taken place and again brought to an amicable but unsatisfactory conclusion. Other schools in the North-Central Ohio Scholastic league have consented to play through another season in Marion's cramped quarters, even though they obviously deplore the necessity of doing so. This year, as usual, they have made a concession to Marion in order that the league and competition among the schools may be kept alive.

Of course this can not go on indefinitely. Marion eventually, and the time should not be permitted to run much longer, must build and equip a gym of adequate size for games and spectators.

This is one of our most urgently needed community improvements and as such should have a place well toward the top of our post-war projects. In fact, it ranks just about second in the list, as we view the situation without the benefit of a thorough study. Of first importance is the imperative need of a large, well-located and completely modern airport, for without that Marion will be at a gravely serious disadvantage in post-war business and industrial competition.

In second place, or at least very close to it, should be the gymnasium. Of probably it should be more than a gymnasium. Let's call it a recreation center, or community center, and plan for it with some such designation in mind. It could be made large enough and with facilities sufficient to provide comfortable accommodations for public meetings both large and small. This would remedy what has always been one of the most serious defects in Marion's community structure.

The cost would not necessarily have to reach exceptionally high figures and probably conditions would not permit anything of such magnitude. When a project of this sort is under consideration, the tendency often is to permit enthusiasm to overbalance good judgment, and the result is failure to accomplish anything. So careful thought and planning, with every phase and element wisely appraised, are essential from the beginning.

Certainly it is not too soon now to start the planning and have all preliminaries out of the way in preparation for the time when actual fulfilment is possible. Doubtless that time will not arrive until the pressure of the war emergency is lifted, but that may be sooner than is generally expected. If it comes in accordance with our hopes and wishes, it's not far off.

Selection of a site will call for attention at the outset and in approaching that decision, there is likely to be raised the question of whether a new building should be constructed or some existing structure enlarged and remodeled. This is unquestionably of immediate and vital importance.

Available for a new building are the city lot at Church and Prospect streets and the Harding High school athletic field, originally purchased as the site for a combined High school building, gymnasium and auditorium. There may be other locations but we can think of none anywhere near the city's center of population that could be acquired without the purchase and removal of buildings now on the sites. That in all likelihood would be too costly.

Enlargement of the present Harding High school building might be feasible and the location would be all that could be desired.

We have heard some people voice the opinion, too, that the best place for a community center is at the Y. M. C. A., and there can be no mistake in regarding this as worth considering. There could be no more convenient location, and work of remodeling and enlarging the building to meet requirements probably would not be difficult nor too costly.

All this is, of course, just looking to the future and these are merely some suggestions that may or may not be helpful. But they relate to what is obviously a matter of utmost importance and one which ought to receive attention of civic leaders and organizations interested in preparing Marion for the good and happy days that are to follow the war.

Fighting Combinations

A FURTHER aspect of the daylight fighting-bombing raids over Germany by the United States air force is emerging now. While the strategic plan still calls for destroying the German war potential at its industrial sources, it is being combined progressively with the tactical plan of destroying German fighting planes. It is as though the bombers continued to hit German war industry in the midriff, cutting down its will and ability to fight, while their gunners and the accompanying fighter planes were preparing the opening for the final knockout.

United States heavy bombers and their fighter escorts now being used in the raids are fighting as well as bombing combinations. The Germans understand that perfectly by this time, yet here at home it continues to be the impression that the sole object is demolition; that the fighting to and from the targets is a net loss to the attacking force.

It has become very obvious to us the Japs have suffered severe losses among their pilots. They are throwing green pilots at us and we are taking care of them in workmanlike manner.—Adm. William F. Halsey Jr.

News Behind the News

Many Allied Political Problems Seen in Need of Attention.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, March 10—The visit of state Under-Secretary Stettinius to London is being played down because Mr. Roosevelt said it would make no headlines.

The official story is that he is going over to get acclimated at the British foreign office. But he is seeking more than a whiff of the climate in those hallowed halls, and if all the news about it were given out, there might be plenty of headlines.

There is no use pretending Anglo-American-Russian relations are in a settled state. Russian external policies, the Polish, French nationalist committee and Italian problems—all together representing practically the entire fundamental basis of world policy—are far from a common understanding.

Lack of Policy

In fact, collectively, they are in such a state that a sound contention could be made that there is no allied political policy today (as distinct from the military policy on which there seems to be unity.)

A disillusionment with Russia has developed in the state department here from Stettinius on down, excepting possibly only State Secretary Hull at the top. Observers from within have noticed that trend spreading apace with Russia's repeated steps to develop agreements with each individual nation in Europe (unilateral understandings) contrary to Hull's stand against separate alliances.

Nevertheless, Hull's friends classify him as more hopeful than most of the others that the Russians are merely presenting alternatives to the world, first moving in one direction and then in the other, at one time pleasing us, and at another goading us. That these moves represent a threat and possibly a break is the common view of other officials.

Why Mr. Roosevelt and the British are giving one third of the conquered Italian fleet to the Russians has not been thoroughly explained. No one has even hinted that we should get one-third of what the Russians conquer in this war to make matters even.

Only explanation offered here is that the Reds have sacrificed greatly—one of the highest officials saying privately the war would have ended in a stalemate, had not Russia wasted the German army. This seems to represent the official attitude.

The British, however, seem even more resentful of Moscow diplomacy, if not frightened by it. If Mr. Stettinius can make any progress toward solution of this complex tri-partite relationship, he will not only get a headline, but a medal. For instance, if he could only get the Poles and Russians on speaking terms, he will have wrought a diplomatic miracle.

Furthermore, there does not appear to be even a joint understanding regarding the future of Germany. Mr. Churchill indicated to parliament he favored partitioning that nation when he suggested Poland should be given compensating territory from Germany for whatever the Russians take away from her eastern frontier. No cheers were heard here about that.

Views on Italy

On the Italian problem, most of our officials, talking unofficially, would like to get rid of both the king and Badoglio, and see a republic with a true legislative assembly representing all parties freely, established when we get to Rome, but what Stalin thinks about that may be something else again.

Thus, none of the recently developed attitudes of Moscow and London, except the Finnish peace offer, has found great favor here. In fact, it is doubtful that our own action in one particular, in bringing Argentina to her senses by a strong policy, found favor in London.

If we had followed the British, we would still be running away from that situation. There are also the matters of acquiring British bases and competitive viewpoints on trade relations in which the British obviously do not like the Hull policy.

Thus the agreements which have been made and so widely advertised (Moscow, Teheran, etc.) have fallen far short of a common political understanding. You need no secret information to see that. It is apparent behind the news daily.

New Engines for Flying Wing?

SUPER PLANE—Four submerged turbine-compressors power this flying wing transport of future which, it is claimed, would have about half the air drag of present-day designs.

* * *

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—Propellerless "flying wing" airplanes enclosing high-speed gas-turbines, much faster than those now employed in jet-propulsion planes, are visualized as the air liners of the future by G. Geoffrey Smith, British aeronautical experts and managing editor of Flight and Aircraft Production in London.

Smooth-running high-speed turbines will revolutionize aircraft design, and bring about a basic change in its structure, Smith believes.

His book, "Gas Turbines and Jet-propulsion For Aircraft," just issued in New York, partly explains the new aviation development recently announced jointly by the Royal Air Force and the United States Army Air Forces.

Smith summarizes the advantages of jet-propulsion:

1. More efficient flight at higher speeds in the sub-stratosphere.

2. Paraffins, diesel oils, or tar oils can be substituted for gasoline, extending our present oil reserves.

3. There is an eventual limit to propeller power. Jet-propulsion eliminates the propeller, avoiding this potential handicap.

4. Better location for the pilot, with unrestricted vision. No obstructions for guns mounted on military aircraft.

Future airplanes will be designed around turbine-compressor engines, rather than by adapting present-day planes to fit them, Smith believes.

"The flying wing idea is as old as the industry itself," he says, "but only in recent years have advances in aerodynamic and structural knowledge brought the thick-section wing to practical realization.

"It has been estimated that a 'flying wing' has from one-third to one-half less air drag than the conventional monoplane, so that considerably less horsepower is needed to attain the same speed.

"Since jet-propulsion engines are considerably lighter in weight than the conventional power-plant with its many auxiliaries, a double advantage is suggested by marrying the gas-turbine to the 'flying wing.'"

American Bulls in India

From New York Herald Tribune.

SIX young Holstein bulls have been purchased by the British army from a large dairy farm near Chicago and will be shipped to India to be bred to the sacred Brahma cattle. Experiments have shown that the Holstein crossed with the Brahma produces an animal of excellent milk-giving qualities, which is at the same time capable of standing the intense heat of India.

This shipment of bulls is, in a sense, the repayment of an old debt which the American cattle industry owes to India. About 40 years ago, when that many-sided and imaginative public servant, James Wilson, was secretary of agriculture, a small shipment of Brahma bulls was brought to South Texas to be crossed with the beef cattle there. Mr. Wilson, along with several far-sighted cattlemen, believed that the progeny would be more able to withstand the terrific heat of South Texas and be more disease resistant as well. The climate along the Rio Grande was, and is, exceedingly hard on pure-bred Herefords.

The experiment turned out well. Today there are tens of thousands of the descendants of these Brahma bulls: they are powerful brutes, wonderfully able to take care of themselves, and seem to be immune to many of the ills which plague pure-bred herds. Indeed, the management of the great King Ranch has, by judicious crossbreeding and selection, developed its own strain, known as the Santa Gertrudis, which reproduces on a consistent pattern.

Thus does that east which once (unwillingly, it is true) gave us bulls which aided our beef production receive in return bulls from the west which should add immensely to the milk production of unhappy, hungry India. It seems to be one world, in cattle as well as many other things.

The Problems of Lasting Peace

By Herbert Hoover and Hugh Gibson

(This is another installment of the newly-revised, up-to-the-minute version of their important book, The Problems of Lasting Peace, prepared especially for this series by Herbert Hoover, thirty-first President of the United States and Hugh Gibson, former minister to Poland and Ambassador to Belgium and Brazil.)

INSTALLMENT V

The Third Step to Peace

AT this distance from the last war we can take an overall view. We know now that gigantic upheaval generated destructive forces which lasted for years in economic dislocations, revolutions, conflict of national interests, threats of war, and finally degenerated into renewed world war. We must accept it as certain that a period of disturbing years will elapse after the next victory over our enemies.

Therefore, it is urgent that we accept a transitional period of growth of economic and political stability and the solution of long-view problems. During the transitional stage the "Trustees of Peace" should have the duty not only to see that the terms of the "provisional peace" are carried out but to maintain order in the world and of equal importance to erect the machinery for determining the solution of the long-view problems. Among these long-view questions are:

The further terms to be imposed upon enemy countries including reparations and the abolition of militarism.

Punishment of Axis leaders and officials for criminal actions.

The disposition of territories and peoples to be freed.

Settlement of private-property questions, reparations, and inter-governmental debts.

Final determination of the boundaries and the assignment of disputed areas.

The stabilization of international currencies and removal of trade barriers.

Immediate reduction of the armaments of the United Nations themselves to the minimum, forces needed to maintain international order and to enforce ultimate peace provisions.

And finally, the erection of some sort of world institution for the preservation of peace.

There could be no difficulty of imposing the final terms upon the enemy. Acceptance of such further terms should be a condition of the provisional peace, and it should be recalled that when the time comes to impose them the enemy will have been disarmed.

OBVIOUSLY, these problems must be worked out by regional councils and special committees representing the United Nations. Later on we discuss the importance and duties of regional councils separately for Europe, Asia, and the Western Hemisphere to deal with political questions. Even if temporary or probationary they could be each of them assigned such of these long-view problems as are local to their regions. Failure to solve such problems would call for action by the Trustees who would also have to deal with inter-regional problems. Moreover, these regional councils could serve to compose many current controversies in their own regions and could refer only unsolvable conflicts to the Trustees of Peace.

If such a structure were set up at once firing ceases in each region, it would relieve the "Trustees" of an infinite number of local questions, and if these councils proved a success, their work would lay foundations for the world institution to preserve peace.

Even if there were a general peace conference with a view to complete peace-making such as Versailles, such long-view problems would have to be dealt with by regional or special committees representing the interested victorious nations. The work of all these regional councils and special committees should obviously be under the direction and coordination of the "Trustees of Peace." These regional and special commissions should negotiate and report. The acceptance of their conclusions must be subject to acceptance by the various nations involved.

Out of these conclusions and from experience during this transitional period, we will know more of the shape of things to come before entering upon irrevocable commitments. Many of these problems are intricate and gigantic in dimensions. Some of them require time. Many of them must have that time for development of world opinion.

Even if somebody possessed an absolute and perfect formula for solution of each of these gigantic problems, no such settlements can endure unless accepted at least by the democratic peoples themselves. If they are badly formulated, they will be upset at the ballot box. The people cannot decide intelligently unless they have time to inform themselves.

FOR America no agreement is binding until it has been ratified by the senate. There are some people in a hurry who feel we shall get farther and faster by empowering the President to conclude binding agreements without fulfilling our Constitutional requirement of ratification by the representatives of the people. If this is a people's war, it must be a people's peace.

It is difficult to see how we strengthen democratic processes by scrapping constitutional procedure and adopting methods of dictatorship which we are endeavoring to eliminate from the world.

Peace-making is not merely a negative process of stopping military aggressions. It must be a dynamic elimination of the causes of aggression, the creation of good will and cooperation between nations to advance prosperity and the rule of law.

The suggestion has been made that instead of a transition period there should be a long military armistice — from three to ten years' duration—instead of a Provisional Peace.

An armistice is not peace. An armistice is merely a cessation of the killing of men, but leaves all the other degenerative forces of war in action. An armistice is worse because it relaxes the wartime disciplines without substituting the disciplines of peace-time. It leaves the whole world suspended between war and peace. With its uncertainties there can be no restoration of production or stability of political order. In view of the degeneration brought about by the uncertainties of the nine months' armistice and the subsequent delays in ratification of treaties after the first war, we tremble to contemplate what would happen in the economic and political uncertainties again under such conditions.

The suggestion has been made that a transition period will likewise prolong the unsettled economic condition of the world. That ignores our proposal of a Provisional Peace which would restart economic life at once. Instead of nearly a year's delay and economic degeneration, as after Versailles, while that Conference argued long-view questions and secured ratifications, such an instant Provisional Peace would give an immediate impetus to the resumption of economic life.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, March 10, 1934.

A shipment of 3,800 dozen oranges, sent to the local public relief administration from Columbus, was distributed to persons on relief lists throughout Marion county.

Joseph B. Eastman, coordinator of transportation, warned members of congress that chaos in the nation's transportation system threatened. His report urged placing complete control of water, motor truck and bus transportation under the interstate commerce commission to avert chaos.

President Roosevelt curtailed army flying of the mails and ordered all possible precautions taken after two more pilot deaths had brought to 10 the number of lives lost since the army took mail routes over from private airlines 19 days earlier.

The state highway department tentatively awarded a contract to W. P. Townsend of Greenville, O., on his bid of $53,982, to construct a concrete bridge across the Scioto river at Newmans.

Joseph Carl Gibson, 53, Marion Steam Shovel Co. employe for 23 years, died at his home on Uncapher avenue.

Husbands of members were guests when the Au Fait club held a potluck dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Scribner of Wallace street.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, March 10, 1924.

Edwin Denby retired from the office of secretary of the navy.

William G. Benham and Dwight Harrison, officials of the R. S. Dollings Co., were sentenced by Federal Judge Sater of Columbus to 20 years in federal prison and were also fined $5,000 each. Benham and Harrison, residents of Columbus, had been convinced of misusing the mails in connection with stock sales.

Members of the Rhondda Welsh male chorus, a traveling musical organiaztion, and members of the Canto club of Marion held memorial services for President Harding at the vault in Marion cemetery, where the body of the late President lay. The Welsh chorus had been brought here for a concert at the Grand theater under auspices of the Canto club.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keeler of South Prospect street.

Alfred L. Lake, 65, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. William Dix, in Prospect.

An ordinance providing for levy of an occupational tax intended to raise approximately $75,000, needed to make up a deficit in Marion's municipal operating funds, was adopted by city council.

Token Headache

It's Already Building Up with OPA but Extent of Pain is as Yet Uncertain.

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The first rather token headache already is building up at the Office of Price Administration, but just how much of a pain it is probably won't be known until the latter part of May, possibly even July.

It's the "hoarding" of tokens. It was anticipated by OPA officials, but like a lot of people who recognize the first symptoms of illness, they argue it really isn't very serious. What makes it important is that it could be.

When the token idea was first decided upon, the collector menace was considered and OPA even made a survey of it. There were two factors that made it seem unimportant. The percentage of collectors in the country is small and as soon as the novelty wears off, it will be even smaller. Besides, except for the tokens taken out of circulation and the expense of replacements, it couldn't possibly have any effect on the ration program.

But there has developed something else—the hoarding of tokens (which are good any time) by people who haven't used all their ration stamps in any period.

THE tokens were no sooner on the market than shrewd housewives figured: "Why not use my stamps today and save the tokens I get in change for that rainy day when I want to splurge?"

If this should become widespread, a complete overhaul of the point system would be necessary.

One reason OPA thinks the headache won't become critical is public opinion.

Another reason for not fretting, they claim, is that diners-out and non-housekeepers will soon find themselves with a basketful of tokens for which they have no more use than the denominational ration stamps they couldn't use up before.

Nevertheless OPA won't know if it has a real or imaginary fever until around May 20, when the first ten-point stamps expire; or perhaps July when the second reports come in. If anything has to be done, it probably won't be until then.

In all other respects, the new token system is going over with a bang. OPA's sampling system reports that initial dealings in tokens as change for ration stamps were most favorable. Grocers who had been burning the midnight oil seemed most happy about it all.

Lend-Lease Headache

By Truman Twill

Because almost every family in these former colonies now has a member or a close friend in England, all of us are interested in the problem of keeping them and their pals from capturing the old place and bringing on another Revolutionary war in reverse.

We gather that the British are saying, "Blimey, it couldn't be much worse if the Germans themselves, had invaded us! This way we can't even fight back. All we can do is take their lip and their money."

Gen. Eisenhower, himself, has recognized that the situation is serious. In a letter to our sons, brothers and husbands now residing in England, he points out that they are there to win the war, nothing else.

He even goes so far as to suggest that their chances of getting home safely and speedily depend on good behavior. The situation apparently is serious, entirely aside from the mortal dangers that will come when the invasion battle begins. The British, however, shouldn't get panicky, because in the payoff they are going to win the last battle. They always do. We're the saps who will have to handle the problem when the war is over.

It will be our turn to grumble when a lot of birds who couldn't pass the sixth grade English exam come home with Oxford accents.

There is going to be the devil to pay when fellows who used to eat three meals a day when they could get them begin talking about knocking off for afternoon tea—and don't think they won't. If they stay over there much longer they may even demand crumpets.

Some of them will come home with notions about hamming up rural buildings with thatched roofs and spoiling the traditional American scene of billboards and hamburger huts. There will be a tough time talking them out of naming their joints the Pheasant and Cricket, or the Pig and Apple, or something equally bad.

With a shudder and a thought to our accident insurance, we realize that sooner or later on a Sunday afternoon some fool driver who was part of the invasion of the British isles will forget himself and come bearing down the left side of the main road. Fenders will fly and ambulance sirens will wail.

These things are mentioned merely to remind the English that there are two sides to this lend-lease headache that has them half nuts. We sympathize, but if they're taking it on the button now, they should remember we will get it on the rebound. And they should remember, too, that until their newspapers carry a story about some errant Englishman in the United States being the father of quadruplets they haven't a thing to worry about—not a thing.

So They Say—

Don't worry about the lawyer's future. But law practice will be different. More problems are being taken before administrative tribunals—the SEC, OPA and WLB—than ever before. People believe they get speedier disposition of cases before those groups, with fewer legal technicalities.—Joseph W. Henderson, president American Bar association.

They are clothed in rags, infested with lice, are fed bread that can't be eaten, and a watery soup. Weakened by privation and cold, they are forced to work 11 to 15 hours a day in war factories, mines and on roads.—Valentin Sizakim, Russian soldier who escaped German imprisonment.

Dogs seem to be able to distinguish between the two types of siren noises. The alert, which has a sliding up-an-down tone, upsets them, but "raiders passed," which has a long, high, steady tone, restores their equanimity.—British National Canine Defense League.

Unless we can establish a just and durable world order, good for all mankind, we shall not be able ourselves to keep democracy, but will drift and drift, as we are drifting now, to one war after another, toward dictatorship.—Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick of New York.

Japanese military forces are at all times carrying out a war of moral principles which upholds righteousness and humanity and never mistreat prisoners.—Kimachi Yamamoto, Jap vice minister for occupied Asia.

If victory this time is to be converted into durable peace, we shall have to seek out and deal with some of the causes of social unrest. Our basic problems will have to be solved in terms of human obligations.—Dr. Everett Case president Colgate university.

The Indian tribes have a higher birth rate than any other racial group in America.—Rev. Henry H. Ragatz of Denver, Colo.

Danger of Red Air Blows From East Face Nazis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Karl Zeppelin, Hitlerian air expert, has exposed to his public the undraped fact that the Nazi retreats on the Russian front make it possible for the Red air fleet to attack cities within the reich—and the German man-in-the-street, his belly already full of Anglo-Yankee bombs, is said to be worried.

Fresh disaster would indeed be heaped on the fuehrer if the Muscovite bombers should start heavy raiding of eastern Germany in conjunction with the allied assault from the west and south. Thus far this part of the reich has been comparatively free of intensive bombing, because of its distance from American and British air bases. Consequently Hitler depends greatly on that area for his war production.

Reason To Be Fearful

The Germans have plenty of reason for being fearful of death coming out of the eastern skies. The fact that the Russians haven't embarked on a wholesale bombing offensive against Nazidom heretofore, doesn't mean they lack an power. On the contrary they possess great aerial strength, but ever since the beginning of the war they've been using their warplanes for the titanic land battles on the long eastern fighting front.

Several of these engagements are under way now, Marshal Stalin having announced a fresh offensive in the Ukraine last night. The Red Armies are making a furious onslaught to cut German Marshal Von Mannstein off and either annihilate his forces or batter him down into the crater of the Balkan volcano.

So long as this intensive fighting continues, the Reds likely will want to concentrate their air power on the battle-front. However, an early spring already has turned the steppes into lakes of mud which greatly impedes operations. By April it's possible that there will be a great slackening off of fighting for several weeks, though it's unsafe to assume this in view of the way military traditions are being shattered.

Red Strength Is Secret

However, if there's a lull it presumably will permit the Russians to participate in the reduction of Hitler's strength by bombing. The Muscovites keep the figures of their aerial strength to themselves, but we know they are capable of hurling a great force at the Nazis as witness their recent attacks on the Finns. Certainly the Red fleet may be expected to do intensive bombing of German bases and communications in Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Moscow approves of the Anglo-American air drive against Germany, but it's interesting to have Lt. General Boris Sterligov remind the allies again through the newspaper Red Star that Hitler won't fall by bombing alone. It will be says the general, by the "active operations of a land army of many millions in cooperation with air and sea forces."

Threat of Civil War Feared in Finland

By The Associated Press

STOCKHOLM, March 10—Acceptance of Russia's original armistice demands might precipitate civil war in Finland, Eric Lindquist, foreign editor of the Swedish newspaper Morgon Tidningen, reported today after a trip to Helsinki.

While Finland was reported awaiting Moscow's reaction to a revised Finnish answer to the Russian terms, Lindquist reported Finnish public opinion was so unprepared for peace that only one person was capable of uniting the people in their current dilemma. This person, he said, was Field Marshal Baron Carl Gustaf Mannerheim, the Finnish commander-in-chief.

There is strong opposition to the government's attempts to get out of the war.

BOMBER DOES SOLO FLIGHT OVER BERLIN

By The Associated Press

A U. S BOMBER BASE, ENGLAND, March 10—The crew of the Flying Fortress "Round Trip Ticket" did a solo "sightseeing" flight over Berlin yesterday closer to the capital's pavement than the observation roof of a New York City skyscraper.

Lt. Lyman D Barkalow, 28, Xenia, O., brought the damaged plane home almost two hours late, after skimming across Berlin, maneuvering through intense anti-aircraft fire and almost clipping corners off some of the tallest buildings.

Due to oxygen equipment failure and the threat of enemy fighters, the plane flew the journey back at between 500 and 1,000 feet.

Unable to remain at a high altitude with the rest of his formation, Barkalow dropped down through the clouds—and found himself alone smack over Berlin.

Some quick figuring by Lt. Stephen H Maris, 27, Little Rock, Ark., navigator, got them headed for home.

Fire broke out in the top turret compartment, causing some anxious moments before being extinguished.

The crew threw everything but the guns overboard to lighten the load and conserve gas.

crime. The verdict we think you should return is a verdict of not guilty.'

Upon a blackboard he drew a time schedule which, based upon hours listed by state and defense witnesses he said made it impossible for Collett to have been at the McCoy farm at the hour the state says the family of three was slain.

"The only link by which the state attempts to connect the defendant to this case,' he added, "is what it pleases to call a confession.'

Last Defense Witness

Collett was called by defense counsel yesterday as their 13th and final witness.

Sobbing, he stammered out the story that he had told his son Thomas, 29, he killed Elmer McCoy. He insisted he confessed because police officials advised him he would fare better than if he denied it.

Prosecutor John B Hill in cross-examination asked Collett if he had been in Sabina the night of the slayings. Collett said he had not, and was dismissed.

The state immediately called the first of six rebuttal witnesses, in an attempt to tear down Collett's alibi.

R S Kirk, a Wilmington farmer and third cousin of Charles Kirk, a member of the defense counsel staff, testified he saw Collett in Sabina, 11 miles from Washington C. H., at 8 p. m. Thanksgiving eve.

Another state witness was Dan Dawson, proprietor of a feed store at Harveysburg, who said he saw Collett "jump into his car, start it suddenly, and start toward Wilmington with a sudden burst of speed," at about 7:30 p. m.

Collett had testified he went to the feed store at 8 o'clock but found it closed.

State Called 19 Witnesses

The state had rested its case late Tuesday, after using 19 witnesses and insisting Collet would benefit from the deaths of his wife's brother and family.

The prosecution presented this evidence.

1. A confession, admitted after two days of arguments and over defense objections, in which Collett admitted shooting Elmer McCoy.

2. Testimony from Robert M Zimmers, a federal bureau of investigation arms expert, who said the bullet which killed McCoy was fired from the same gun as those which killed his wife.

3 That Collett asked Police Lt George Eckerman of Toledo during questioning preceding the confession if he knew of any recent supreme court action regarding inheritance in case of death of all members of a family and whether Eckerman "though the McCoy estate would go to his (Collett's) wife."

4. A statement by Howard Hurley, a neighbor, that Collett last summer had remarked "if I weren't for the McCoy girl his son would fall heir to the McCoy estate." Hurley said the statement was made during a discussion of the April death of Mrs Martha McCoy, mother of Elmer McCoy and Mrs. Collett.

MR. AND MRS. SAMUEL D. EPLEY

Open house Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs Samuel D Epley of Harding Way East will be in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary. They will receive their friends from 2 to 5 p. m.

The bride of half a century ago was Miss Eva Tavenner, the daughter of Rebecca Jones Tavenner and Noble R. Tavenner of Prospect township. Mr. Epley the son of Sarah Dunbar Epley and David Epley of Prospect township.

They were united in marriage at the Baptist parsonage on Erst Church street by Rev. Z F. Bell.

They established themselves in a newly purchased farm home five miles east of Marion, a part of which now forms a part of the Scioto Ordnance Plant.

Early in 1917 they moved to farm just outside the city limits on Harding Highway East, where they now reside.

Mr. Epley has spent his entire life in farming and despite his advancing years maintains a keen interest in agricultural activities. They are the parents of one daughter and three sons. The daughter is Mrs Carl F. Digel of Springfield, O. The sons are Loss Epley at home, Ralph E Epley of 217 Forest Lawn boulevard and Reid Epley of Likens Chapel road. Of the three grandchildren Pvt Lewis Digel is in the service with a Marine Unit now in the South Pacific.

TO AID PROSECUTOR IN CASE AT KENTON

Special to The Star

KENTON, O., March 10—Harry I. Kaylor of Kenton, prosecuting attorney of Hardin county at the time Richard Knight pleaded guilty to first degree murder in the holdup-slaying of Loyal W. Bean, Dunkirk grocer, a decade ago today was appointed by Judge Arthur Tudor to assist Prosecutor Rex W Hanna in presenting the state's case against Knight when he is re-tried.

Freed under habeas corpus proceedings because he was sentenced by a one-judge court after pleading guilty of first degree murder, Knight was returned to Hardin county Monday. Abraham Gertner, Columbus attorney who represented Knight at habeas corpus proceedings said he was not now the man's counsel and Judge Tudor considered the appointment of two local attorneys to defend him.

with the famous Joseph Pulitzer publication until 1911. For the following eleven years he was on the staff of the Saturday Evening Post, 'covered" the World war for that periodical and came back from abroad to establish a reputation as a lecturer, after-dinner speaker and pungent commentator on people and things. From 1922 on he was with the Hearst publications, more especially the Cosmopolitan magazine.

He got to Hollywood when he sold the movie rights to his fiction character, "Judge Priest," and was made "unofficial adviser" in the filming of the judge. Then, to his surprise, he was drafted as an actor. He appeared first in four short comedies, then with Will Rogers in "Steamboat 'Round The Bend." He never thought much of his own histronic abilities.

Cobb settled down in a former home of Greta Garbo in Santa Monica with his wife, daughter and three grandchildren. He continued to write daily newspaper articles and, as the spirit moved him, to produce his dryly humorous fiction.

Cobb was born June 23, 1876, in Paducah, Ky., the son of Joshua Clark and Manie Marshall (Saunders) Cobb. His father and four uncles served in the Confederate army and one of Cobb's proudest possessions was a commission as colonel on the staff of the commander in chief of the United Confederate Veterans, conferred on him in 1916 when he was chief orator of the veterans' reunion at Birmingham, Ala. Cobb also was a colonel by virtue of commissions granted by the governor of Kentucky in 1918 and 1921. He always considered this a real honor and used to voice his indignant protest when the corps of 'Kentucky colonels' expanded into a list of amplitudinous proportions.

CIO, AFL COMPETE TO BREAK PAY PLAN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 10—A subsurface AFL-CIO rivalry for prestige has intensified the campaign to smash the little steel formula so much that the war labor board has decided to seek White House guidance.

In brief, the WLB will attempt to learn whether the administration is prepared to have a showdown now with labor on wage ceilings and, if so, how to proceed.

This was learned today as the steel industry opened its fight to have the CIO steelworkers' 17-cent wage demand thrown out of panel hearings on grounds it is contrary to existing wage policy.

The AFL and the CIO, both of which are represented on the war labor board, have a common objective of dumping the little steel formula or, at least, raising the 15 per cent limitation. But they are apprehensive of one another about a grab for standing among the workers if the drive succeeds.

Union prestige enters the picture because of the possibility one union's case may be used as the battering ram to smash the formula. One alternative possibility discussed is to throw the whole issue into a general hearing and make it a free-for-all. The forum would be opened not only to labor and industry, but to the OPA and other government agencies, as well as the general public, either as individuals or through organizations and institutions. Some WLB members favor having congress take on this chore, including the decision.

PROPAGANDA HIT BY BOTH PARTIES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 10—The Democrats have lent support to a Republican proposal to screen political propaganda from news sent to the troops. Senator Bridges (R-NH) proposed that a two or four-man committee with bi-partisan membership be set up to scan Army and Navy news output.

Said Senator Lucas (D-Ill):

"I'm for a commission or anything that will give the troops honest, fair information about the candidates, regardless of who they are. I don't want anyone to have any advantage."

Taxpayer

Guess who's having trouble with his income tax? President Roosevelt, the Hyde Park tree grower. Does he have the help of treasury wizards, tax primers, fifty-cent booklets; no. He's doing it all by himself and at a given hour for the last three days, his desk has been piled high with forms. Seems he's having some difficulty over entering of rents collected from some bungalows but he expects to have it in by March 15 and avoid delinquency fines.

HOLCOMB SELECTED FOR DIPLOMAT ROLE

3 Steubenville Cagers Declared Ineligible

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 10—H R Townsend, commissioner of the Ohio High school athletic association, disclosed today that three members of the Steubenville High school basketball team were declared ineligible for scholastic competition yesterday because they participated in independent games.

Steubenville was beaten last night by Tiltonville, 41 to 38.

Townsend the three boys were ruled out after an investigation which followed the filing of affidavits that they had seen the players in independent games in Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The three were Joseph Gilliam, William Snyder and Harvey Daggett. All are seniors and Gilliam and Snyder were regulars on the Steubenville team.

Germans Believe U. S. Secret Weapon Helps Bombing Aim

By The Associated Press

STOCKHOLM, March 10—Germans are convinced that American bombers "must have some new weapon" making possible such pinpoint accuracy as the awful destruction of the ball bearing works and tank plants in Erkener southern suburb of Berlin, a Swede arriving today from the ravaged capital said.

The Erkener works were a target of the American day raiders Wednesday. German dispatches said the bombers had penetrated to the very heart of the city yesterday, taking advantage of thick clouds.

"There must have been more than 500 incendiaries landed on that factory," the eye witness told of the ball bearings works. "The whole place was covered and five or six blocks were blasted or gutted by fire Berliners simply are astonished that such a small place could be hit so accurately."

The Swede said that he counted 120 big fires and that the whole district was in ruins.

In another precision bombing Wednesday, the Swede said, a submarine parts plant at Wildau also was smashed. He said propaganda Minister Goebbels, also Gauleiter of Berlin, had called a meeting of all district leaders, high ranking party men, police and storm troop leaders to plan total evacuation of Berlin within the next few days, should the daylight raids continue.

German quarters said American losses were higher than the seven bombers and one fighter announced in London. They asserted the losses were not greater because of the weather.

Foreign passengers leaving Berlin received gestapo warnings not to talk or they would be barred from returning to Germany.

Pleasant Twp. Upsets Claridon in Tournament Semi - Finals

Pleasant Township High school defeated Claridon Township High school, 34 to 32, in the semi-finals of the Class B basketball tournament at Westerville last night. This upset victory for Pleasant puts the heretofore top Claridon cagers out of the running in the district tournament. Claridon had come through the county league unscathed and had won all tournament games until last night.

Tomorrow night at 9 Pleasant will play Worthington in the finals. In another game, Grove City will play Ashville. Both winners will enter the regional tournament.

Cusick opened the game with a field goal for Pleasant. D. Cusick followed with a second basket for Pleasant. He then scored a foul followed by a basket by Zachman. The score at this point was Pleasant, 7 Claridon, 0. A. Augenstein scored Claridon's first points with a field goal. Almendinger made a basket for Pleasant. A. Augenstein put one in on a pivot shot for Claridon and Cochrane made one for Pleasant. After Chapman made another basket for Claridon the score stood at 9 to 6 in favor of Pleasant. D. Cusick made another foul and A. Augenstein made a basket to end the first quarter with a score of 12 to 9.

Pleasant held the lead until four minutes of the second quarter remained when Claridon scored a basket to tie the game up, 17 to 17. Cochrane made a semi-long for Pleasant to make the score 19 to 17. Chapman tied it again for Claridon with a semi-long set shot. Allen Augenstein had three fouls on him at this stage and was forced to play a cautious defensive game. He played the whole game, however at center for Claridon. The half ended with the score tied at 19 to 19.

In the third quarter Chapman made a basket for Claridon about 30 seconds after the playing started to put Claridon ahead, 21 to 19, for the first time in the game. Chapman made a sucker shot and Claridon was ahead, 28 to 19. Cochrane made a side shot for Pleasant. D. Augenstein sank a one-hander from the side for Claridon. J. Cusick made a follow up for Pleasant. A. Augenstein made a free throw for Claridon and Warren Seiter put Pleasant within a point of the lead, 26 to 25, on a basket. Chapman made a free throw for Claridon. A. Augenstein made a free throw and Seiter made a free throw for Pleasant. At the end of the third quarter Claridon was ahead, 28 to 26.

Ruth made a one-hander for Claridon to open the fourth quarter and D. Cusick made a sucker shot for Pleasant. At this point Captain J. Cusick went out on fouls for Pleasant. Ruth made a free throw for Claridon to make the score 31 to 28 in favor of Claridon. Pleasant got 30 on a follow-up by Cochrane and forged ahead on Almendinger's basket score, 32 to 31, within three minutes of the end. A. Augenstein tied it, 32 to 32, with a free throw. Pleasant won the game when Cochrane made two free throws after he had been fouled by R. Wickersham, Claridon guard.

A summary of the game follows:

Pleasant—34	G.	F.	Claridon—32	G.	F.
Cochrane, f	3	2	D. Augustein, f	2	0

Brooklyn's Pennant Hopes Hit Serious Blow by War Calls

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 10—With infielder Billy Herman sailing away to join the Navy and pitcher Ed Head marching off in a soldier suit, the Brooklyn Dodgers' National league pennant aspirations have suffered a severe relapse almost on the eve of their first spring training drills.

Deacon Branch Rickey broke the news to the Gowanus faithful yesterday and added that pitcher Bill Lohrman had informed him he would take his army physical next Monday.

Herman, the cornerstone of the infield, told Rickey he had been accepted for service and soon would be in the Navy and Head wrote from Shreveport, La., he had been examined and accepted by the Army.

The Brooks have 18 experienced men definitely set to open camp at Bear Mountain, N. Y., next Wednesday and 15 others in the "doubtful" class.

Other news from the baseball front included:

National League—

Boston—Bob Quinn has discovered that he "gave" Columbus $7,500 for outfielder Chet Wieczorek. He has learned the player whom he drafted from the American association club is in the Army.

Philadelphia—With signing of Outfielder Buster Adams the Blue Jays report 16 in the fold. Herb Pennock announced signing of George Gasdaskae, 18-year-old Bethlehem, Pa., high school boy, to be sent to the Bradford, Pa., farm in the Pony league.

Chicago—First Baseman Phil Cavaretta informed club officials that he has been called up for Army physical today at Milwaukee. If Cavaretta is accepted, the Cubs will have to depend on either Heinz Becker or the Veteran Jimmie Foxx.

Brooklyn—In addition to the news on Herman, Head and Lohrman, Rickey announced that Lloyd Waner had been reinstated and that he had given permission to catcher Mickey Owen to stay at his Springfield, Mo., farm during the early days of the training season.

American League:

St. Louis—Outfielder Frank Demaree, recently released by the Cardinals, signed by the Browns.

Chicago—Outfielder Thurman Tucker announced he had passed his physical examination and pitcher Al Epperly, acquired in the baseball draft, said he would either stay on his farm or be in the armed service. Pitchers John Harvey and Charles Graumann and outfielder-pitcher Ed Carnett signed contracts.

Detroit—Pitchers Hal Newhouser and Zeb Eaton took part in early training workout at Evansville, Ind., in freezing weather.

Philadelphia—Athletics reported 26 signed and only two holdouts, outfielder Bill Burgo and pitcher Luke (Hot Potato) Hamlin. Connie Mack said Bobo Newsom not considered a holdout as he was just seeing if he could get in shape to pitch.

FRANKIE IN ARMY

FT. McPherson, Ga., March 10—Frankie Sinkwich, Detroit professional football player, was accepted by the Army yesterday after a pre-induction physical examination.

VIC DORRIS DONS UNIFORM OF ARMY

By the time you read this, Vic Dorris, up until last Friday head football coach and physical education director of Harding High school, should be garbed in khaki of Uncle Sam's Army. He was slated for induction at the Fort Thomas, Ky., reception center yesterday.

Dorris, 30, passed his final physical examination in Columbus Feb. 9 after being in 1-A for three months, or since the Ashland-Harding football game last October. Dorris had been grid coach and gym instructor at Harding for 18 months, coming here in September, 1942, from Granville where he had served in the same capacity two years.

This week there has been no physical education for boys at Harding. An announcement will be made next week by Principal A. C. May in regard to the boys' gym program for the balance of the school year. Physical training may be discontinued altogether for the rest of the year or a special set up, with the boys themselves going ahead with the regular activities without any organized supervision, may be devised.

Dorris' wife and two children, a two-year-old daughter and eight-month-old son, have moved to Columbus where they will make their home with Mrs. Dorris' mother. While in Marion, the Dorris family lived on Windsor street.

Martinelli Wins From Castle in Mat Tilt

Angelo Martinelli won a two-hour main go from Bobby Castle in wrestling matches at the Armory last night. Martinelli brought Castle down the first time in seven minutes with a leg lock. Castle took the second fall with a body slam and press in six minutes. Martinelli came back to win in five minutes with a drop kick and body press.

Dandy Davis and Rufus Jones fought to a draw in a 45-minute two-fall tussle. Davis toppled Jones first in 15 minutes with a crab hold. Jones retaliated with an arm twist in 16 minutes.

In a battle royal Martinelli and Castle lasted to the end. Davis lasted 11 minutes, Jones 10 minutes, Gorilla Grubmeir and Irish McGee were put out in four and eight minutes respectively.

Ohio State Loop May Operate with Only Four Teams

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 10—The Class D Ohio State baseball league will operate this year with only four clubs if necessary, President Joe Donnelly said today in calling a schedule meeting here for Sunday, March 19.

Donnelly said Springfield, Middletown, Zanesville and Lima would be definite starters, and that the meeting would determine whether Newark and Marion also would play.

Both have completed organization and are seeking major league backing, which Donnelly reported might be arranged.

Of the four certain starters, only Lima has been unable to arrange an agreement with some big league club. Springfield will work with the New York Giants, Middletown with the Boston Americans through the Louisville Colonels and Zonesville will have player support from the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Donnelly said Frank M. Colley, public relations director of the league, was completing two schedules for approval. One calls for a 130-game schedule if six clubs participate, the other for 126 games if only four take the field.

In either event, Donnelly said, the season will open on Friday, May 2, and close on Labor day, Sept. 4.

BIVINS TURNS DOWN BATTLE ON COAST

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 10—Jimmy Bivins has turned down a $22,500 guarantee for a Los Angeles bout with Turkey Thompson because he doesn't want to be an absentee from his defense job.

"There are some things that count more than boxin' money these days," the country's top ranking civilian heavyweight explains. "I don't belong any place else than Cleveland nowadays. The defense job I've got may not be the most important job in the world, but it's important enough to keep me right here in town until further notice."

The Cleveland Negro said he had advised his managers to notify Promoter Tom Gallery that he would not make the trip to California because it would take too much time from his work.

The 1-A Bivins is a checker at the Brodhead-Garrett Co., a concern that supplies lumber to numerous war plants.

Charles MacRae, company general manager, said "this Bivins boy is one of the most valuable of all the workers we've got at our lumber plant. He worked eight full hours a week ago last Tuesday, with his fight with Lee Q. Murray coming up that very night, and he was at work before eight o'clock the next day."

Bivins won a unanimous 10-round decision over Murray, flooring the gangling easterner for a nine count in the ninth round, and extended his succession of ring victories to 15.

Interest Runs High in Gloves Fights; Tickets Going Fast

With planning largely a thing of the past, Y's Men's Service club officials who have the task of running the 1944 Marion Golden Gloves boxing tournament are swinging into high-tempo action for the opening of the ranked event at the Armory on West Church street Monday night.

Preparations for the tourney, in which about 50 boys, youths and soldiers from Marion and vicinity will participate, have been extensive and from the way things stack up now, the men responsible will not see their efforts wasted. From all indications, this year's Gloves, the first since 1940, will be one of the best ever, both from the standpoints of the number and enthusiasm of the contestants and of spectator interest.

Joe Yannitell, one of the important figures guiding the 1944 Gloves, says over half the tickets for the three fight nights—next Monday, Tuesday and Friday—have already been sold. This includes both reserved and general admission seats. Tickets are still on sale at Markert and Lewis Clothing store on East Center street and are reported going like the well-known hotcakes.

Expect Good Crowds

Tournament officials feel certain that the Armory will be jammed for all three nights—which means 500 people for each session. Maybe even more than that will be able to get in if any standing room is granted.

Starting time for the opening session Monday is 8 o'clock. With things buzzing along at a fast clip, officials believe the initial card will be completed in from three to four hours. A card of equal duration will be staged Tuesday night and will include in addition to any first round carry-over fights from the first night that are necessary, quarter and semi-finals. This means that some boys will have to box twice and possibly three times, in one night.

Tonight the final training session will be held in the special Gloves training headquarters on the third floor of the Y. M. C. A. This room has been constant use by the fighters since early in January and men who have been giving the pointers feel that the experience gleaned by the hopefuls will aid them no end during actual competition. Tonight's wind-up jaunt will not be of a strenuous nature but will include only light rope work and sparring and final instructions by the five trainers, head of whom is Wayne G. McCune, chairman of the general Gloves boxing committee of the Y's Men's club. Time for tonight's last training period will be from 7:30 to 9:30.

Fight Three Rounds

Monday and Wednesday nights this week, instruction in the technicalities of the fight game were given the trainees. They were told about how to relax in the corner before the fight and between rounds, how to come out fighting when the bell rings, and other such fundamentals. As one trainer said, "We have been doing this so the boys won't be scared when fight time rolls around."

All fights will last three rounds with each round going the two-minute route. Standard eight-ounce gloves will be used. The Marion tourney is not sanctioned by the A. A. U. but is merely a local affair. The winners will receive miniature golden gloves and the runners-up in each division, silver gloves. Awards probably will be presented after the championship scuffles Friday night, when there will be nine fights.

Vernon Jr. High Wins from Alumni, 34-28

Vernon Junior High cagers defeated an alumni team, 34 to 28, last night on the Vernon floor. The varsity kept a lead until the third quarter when the alumni gained a one-point edge. The varsity made up for the loss in the last quarter when they scored 12 points to the alumni's six. High scorer was Courtright, varsity guard, with 17 points.

A comic basketball game served as a preliminary.

BRAVES BUY SOLDIER

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, March 10—The Boston Braves are out the $7,500 they paid the Columbus American association club for the services of outfielder Chester Wieczorek, president Bob Quinn announced last night. The sum represented the draft price paid for the outfielder, who has been inducted and is stationed in New Orleans. Under baseball law the Columbus club retains the draft payment but the Braves retain their title to Wieczorek.

Army Beckons to Many Stars of Radio Shows

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 10—More and more the needs of Uncle Sam for fighting men are having their effect on program plans of the networks. Some of the latest developments concern the shows of Harry James, Red Skelton and Ralph Edwards.

James, classified 1-A and expected to join up shortly, is to discontinue his thrice-a-week band series on CBS and be replaced on March 28 with John Nesbitt and his "Passing Parade" stories. However, Nesbitt will keep on with his Sunday afternoon appearances on NBC in the John Charles Thomas concert.

Red Skelton, also in 1-A, is making preparations to leave the air and his sponsor has been conducting auditions for some one to take over.

Ralph Edwards has passed his army physical and expects to be called up in three weeks. He is intensifying the search for a master of ceremonies to run his Truth or Consequences on NBC while he is away. There are several prospects.

CLEVELAND, March 10—John F. McNamee, 76, for 34 years editor-manager of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen's magazine until his retirement in 1938, died at his home here.

NEWFOUNDLAND GRAVEYARD. At Argentia, Newfoundland, last port of call for ships bound to United Kingdom over the northern route, graves of war dead are marked with crosses.

RECOGNIZE HIM? Familiar to you, Sure, but perhaps the uniform is what makes him look different. He is Lieut. Laurence Olivier, R. N. V. R. fleet arm, making a speech at a British observance of the Russian army's 26th anniversary in London. Olivier is the husband of Vivian Leigh of "Gone With the Wind" fame and a former star on the American screen.

Special Music On Citadel Program

Special musical numbers were featured in the service at the Salvation Army citadel on North Prospect street last night. Capt. and Mrs. Edward Brewer of Dayton were in charge. Yesterday was the fifth day of special services marking dedication of the new Salvation Army center. Capt. Brewer presented selections on the marimba, trombone and accordion and baritone horn and gave several vocal numbers. Capt. Clifford Schofield of Findlay and Capt. Alexander Zoltai of Sandusky, guests, and Capt. Brewer presented brass trio numbers. Capt. Brewer gave the message. Services today and tonight were to be in charge of Capt. and Mrs. Kenath Sharp of Marietta. Members of the Marietta corps band will be present. Forty children attended the child evangelism service yesterday afternoon. Children's services are at 4:30 p. m. and evangelistic service will be at 8 tonight.

Capacity Crowd At Revival Services

A capacity crowd filled First Church of the Nazarene for the second of a series of special revival services last night. The Victory Jubilee Gospel quartet of Detroit, Mich., Negro musicians, presented selections on a variety of instruments and gave several vocal numbers. Rev. W. E. Zimmerman, pastor, spoke on "Repentance." W. A. Rogers, director of the quartet, announced an indoor "old-fashioned southern camp meeting" for Monday night. Services are held each night at 7.

KIWANIANS, STUDENTS HEAR LANGUAGE EXPERT

Dr. F. Arnold Young Gives Talk On Use of Words.

Dr. F. Arnold Young of Pittsburgh, Pa., spoke on "Correct English and Short Cuts in The Use of Correct English" when the Kiwanis club met Thursday noon at Hotel Harding. Dr. Young gave an informative talk on words frequently misused, derivation of words and phraseology. After his talk members asked a number of questions concerning proper usage of words and proper pronunciation. Miss Joyce Bohyer of Central spoke on the Youth Movement.

Dr. Young also spoke to pupils at Harding High school and the three junior high schools where his talks were divided between correct use of grammar and etiquette. Pupils asked questions in open forum periods.

It was voted to donate $25 to the American Red Cross. Guests were J. J. Johnston of Chicago and Floyd Stinson of Euclid, O.

W. C. T. U. INSTITUTE HELD.

An all-day institute was held by the Mary Harris Armor and Frances Willard W. C. T. U. groups Wednesday at the U. B. Community house. A potluck dinner was served at noon. Mrs. C. A. Thomas and Mrs. A. E. Van Asbeck were in charge of morning and afternoon sessions respectively. Mrs. A. F. Smith led morning session devotions and Beverly Armbruster sang accompanied by Mrs. Ray Donaugh. Plans for future work of the groups was given by the county president, Mrs. Clara Lawrence. Institute work was presented by Mrs. Ed Ellington and Mrs. Smith reported on soldiers and sailors work. In the afternoon a playlet was presented by Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Garold Armbruster. Mrs. Myrtle Prettyman talked on L. T. L. junior work and Mrs. Mildred Noble sang. Devotions by Mrs. Donaugh preceded showing of motion picture films by Rev. Robert Phillips. Plans for a county institute April 21 were announced.

Talks were given by Milan Gorby of Progressive, John Owen of Bowling Green, Mrs. Smith of Tymochtee, Wilfred Porter of Mt. Olive and Zell Owen of Montgomery grange.

During the program hour Joseph Fichter, state master, who spoke at the institute at Essex, paid a short visit to the meeting and gave a talk. The next county meeting will be Wednesday night at Kirkpatrick grange hall.

Possible Gas Ration Reduction Forecast

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE, March 10 — Possible reduction in gasoline rations was forecast today by a Maryland office of price administration spokesman.

The official declared there are definite indications that such action may be taken.

The spokesman cited among the indications Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes' recent statement that "petroleum stocks will become tighter," the planned reduction of gasoline coupon values in the west and European invasion plans.

The advent of spring and summer with expected increased motoring probably would figure in any decision to tighten gasoline regulations.

Ten Ford Employes Fired with Union Sanction

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, March 10 — Apparently with full sanction of union officials, the names of 10 Ford Motor Co. employes who participated in a demonstration in the Rouge plant aircraft building were blotted permanently from the payroll today.

The discharges and indefinite suspensions of 10 other persons were meted out at a hearing which ended late yesterday.

The discharged and suspended employes were accused by the company of using "riotous methods" Wednesday in protesting disciplinary action taken against three workers charged with violating shop rules. A Ford spokesman said 250 employes stormed the labor relations office, causing considerable damage, and beating a plant guard.

PORTSMOUTH PUPILS STILL OUT ON STRIKE

By The Associated Press

PORTSMOUTH, O., March 10—Eight hundred of Portsmouth High schools 1,200 pupils remained away from classes for the second straight day today in a demand that the school board hold a public hearing on its decision not to renew principal Olin B. Smith's contract.

Meanwhile, the board, meeting informally last night adopted a resolution proclaiming their meetings "always open to anyone who wants to appear for a hearing."

Striking students asserted previously Smith was denied a public hearing after notification by the board two weeks ago that his contract would not be renewed. No reason was given for the action and last Wednesday a small group of pupils walked out of class in protest of Smith's dismissal.

Yesterday, virtually all of the student body remained away from school. Four hundred students appeared today.

The pupils who refused to attend studies today said they would continue their walk-out until Smith was given a public hearing before the board.

KENTON MAN MISSING

KENTON — Sgt. Rodney Dale Hines, an aerial gunner with the Eighth U. S. Army Air Force in England, has been missing in action since February 26, his father, Roy Hines of Kenton, was informed yesterday. Sgt. Hines entered the Army Air Force in Columbus in November, 1942, and left for overseas duty on Dec. 3, 1943.

BUYERS RETURN IN MODERATION

Some Leads, However, Still Suffer from Profit Taking.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 10—Buyers took on moderate amounts of rails and specialties in today's stock market while leaders generally continued to suffer from light profit taking.

The carrier section firmed after a hesitant start and there was a smattering of new highs in evidence near the fourth hour. Dealings were well under the million-share rate.

Investment demand, based mainly on earnings and dividend hopes, remained as the main purchasing inspiration. The war news was more or less ignored and little selling to raise March 15 income tax funds was reported.

Advancing inclinations were shown by Chesapeake & Ohio, Western Union "A", General Motors and Montgomery Ward. Backward were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, United Aircraft and American Can.

O.W.U. SPEAKER ON EPWORTH PROGRAM

Urges U. S. To Drop International Superiority Complex.

Rev. William E. Shaw, director of religious activities and instructor in Bible at Ohio Wesleyan university, talked Thursday night at Epworth Methodist church on "How Big Is Your World," Rev. Shaw is a returned missionary from Korea.

In the world of nations, Rev. Shaw pointed out, America too often feels superior in governmental and cultural aspects over other nations. He said that we must relinquish our superiority complex before we can understand problems of smaller and culturally backward nations.

As the foremost question Rev. Shaw asked, "How Big Is Your God?" Quoting from the Bible, he said God made of one blood all the earth. If we do not have tolerance for other nations and races, Rev. Shaw said, we will never be able to see the entire greatness of God.

Next week Dr. Frank Slutz of Dayton, teacher and counselor, will speak in the last of a series of four meetings sponsored by the church.

OATS AND BARLEY PRICES ARE STRONG

CHICAGO, March 10—Oats and barley were strong on the grain market today, May oats moved to a new seasonal high, in reflection of a good cash demand for both grains. A slump in the movement of corn from the country has caused an expanded demand for other feed grains from feed manufacturers.

The May rye contract jumped more than a cent at one time, largely on short-covering by local traders, and deferred deliveries made fair gains. Surrounding strength was reflected in wheat, which was ahead fractionally, but interest in the bread cereal continued light and the number of transactions was small.

Union Buys Bonds Totaling $10,000

A report of the purchase of war bonds totalling $10,000 from funds in the local union's treasury was made at a meeting of Carpenters' Local Union 976, AFL, at a meeting Wednesday night in the carpenters hall at 146½ South Main street.

Harold Steward, treasurer, said the bonds, purchased in the last month, have been received. They are Series F bonds.

The union voted to donate $90 for two children's beds for the new wing of the City hospital.

Also, it was reported that contributions totaling $136 have been received for the soldiers' cigaret fund.

Union officials said the hall is being used regularly now by members during their off hours. The next meeting will be March 22.

GUILD HEADS INSTALLED

Mrs. Vera Kinsey was enrolled as a new member and officers for the coming year were named at a meeting of the Victoria Christenson guild of Trinity Baptist church Monday night at the home of Mrs. G. R. Messenger of Pearl street. Officers are: Mrs. George Wingett, president; Mrs. Kenneth Staats, vice president; Miss Jo Ann Creasap, secretary; Mrs. Messenger, treasurer; Miss Geneva Albert, reporter; Mrs. Anna K. Shoolroy, social secretary; Mrs. Vera Kinsey, program chairman; Mrs. Ed. Littleton, devotional chairman; Mrs. Richard Maxim, educational chairman; Miss Marianna Russell, chorister; Mrs. George Barnhart, pianist; Miss Virginia Crabtree, service director.

It was announced that the White Cross missionary quota for the year had been filled. Miss Geneva Albert conducted the devotions and Mrs. Gerald Roberts gave a review of a chapter from the study book. Guests were Mrs. Sheaffer, Roberta Kinsey, Ruth and Marjorie Betz.

A party in April will be in the form of a hall and farewell as the members of the guild will become a circle in the Women's Missionary society and will be known as the Victoria Christenson circle. The farewell will be in the form of a tea.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

THE MOST comfortable thing about my farm neighbor, Mrs. Ticer, is her ability to take everything in her stride. She never asks a question about any task set her unless it is actually necessary, and when she turned to the telephone, I knew that I must hurry if I gave her the message I wished delivered to Charlie Kent, the taximan.

"Ask him," I said, "to stop in here when he comes by here this noon, or to come this way anyway. Say it's urgent, but don't mention my name."

She nodded as she rang for the operator. Then she took down the receiver, and I listened to the one-sided conversation, often so aggravating, but in this case perfectly clear to me.

"Bertha?" she queried, when she had received her number, and I visualized Charlie Kent's plump, comfortable and efficient wife at the other end of the telephone wire.

"Is Charlie there?" Can you get hold of him before he starts for Bridgehampton? Well, then, tell him to come past here when he comes back from the noon train and to stop in for a minute. I won't keep him long, but it's urgent. And, oh yes—will you call me back and let me know when you've located him? How long do you think that will be? Fine! Good-bye."

She turned back to me with an air of satisfaction.

"She says she can get hold of him in ten minutes," she said, "so you might as well sit still. How about a cup of tea?"

"Thank you," I said, "but I couldn't. It's been less than an hour since breakfast."

"Well, at least you can swallow a bit of my home made apple juice," she said, opening her refrigerator and whisking a bottle from it. I knew it was useless to protest, and was glad I had not when I quaffed the delicious iced draught she gave me.

"Mrs. Ticer!" I exclaimed. "That's far, far better than any commercial juice I ever tasted. You ought to go into the business."

"Maybe I shall," she said serenely, "when the war is over. Just now, I've got to much on my mind."

"Indeed you have," I said warmly, for I knew that she and her husband, both getting along in years, and their son, Jerry, just over the draft age, were carrying on the work of a farm on which five men were needed.

"More apple juice?" she asked.

"Get thee behind me, Satan," I quoted smilingly, but with resolution. "Sit down here, while I tell you more about this."

She drew a chair opposite mine, and quickly I outlined my plan for the complete fooling of Shumway.

"I know no more than you what this all means, Mrs. Ticer," I said. "Major Grantland said that he would tell me about it when he could."

"You may have to wait a long time for that" she commented, and I nodded.

"All I know is, that Shumway suspects something. Whether he knows any other circumstances than their dripping wet clothing, I do not know. But Major Grantland wants to throw him completely off the track, and I thought if Mr. Ticer and Jerry could dress up in the other men's clothing—Katie is drying it off now—and drive over to Riverhead in Charlie Kent's car for that afternoon train over there, then he could bring the car to the back door here when he got back, and they could get out and whisk into the house and change their clothing, and Charlie Kent could go back to Sag Harbor.

"I'll say, of course, that we tried to get him by telephone, but couldn't, I'm afraid," I finished ruefully, that Sapphira was an amateur compared to me!"

"I wouldn't worry about that," she said comfortingly. "Didn't I hear somewhere that a good lie was an ever present help in time of trouble?"

"Why, Mrs. Ticer!" I expostulated laughingly. "This from you!"

"War changes everything," she said. "Now, tell me what you want me to tell Charlie when he comes in here at noon. Or, hopefully, "are you going to tell him yourself?"

"No, I can't possibly," I told her. "I shall have to depend on you. Tell him this story I have just told you, and that I want him to drive your men to Riverhead. Tell him to call at the farm at two-thirty. I'll do the rest of the necessary talking, then."

"Let me get it straight," she said, and forthwith repeated everything that I had told her.

"You are letter-perfect," I told her approvingly.

"And just in time," she said, as the kitchen door opened," for here come Sam and Jerry and Jim."

DAUGHTER OF LARUE WOMAN IS PROMOTED

Princess L. Wilson Becomes Nurse Corps Captain.

Princess L. Wilson, Army Nurse corps, daughter of Mrs. Bertha Wilson of LaRue, has been promoted from first lieutenant to captain at Camp Lee, Va., according to word received by her mother. Capt. Wilson is head nurse at the large 117th General hospital at Camp Lee.

Capt. Wilson has had 20 years' experience as a nurse. She is a graduate of Mt. Carmel hospital in Columbus and worked at Mt. Carmel and at a hospital in Fresno, Calif., before entering the army, Sept. 15, 1942. Before she joined the Army Nurse corps her home was in Columbus. She was sent to Camp Atterbury, Ind., as a second lieutenant. From there she was sent to Fort Devens, Mass., where she received a promotion from second to first lieutenant. Capt. Wilson was transferred to Camp Lee before Christmas last year and received her second promotion last Friday. She is a graduate of LaRue High school.

Wonder-Working Drugs

I AM grateful that I have lived long enough to see a dream of my youth become a reality. When I was a medical student and young hospital interne we — my colleagues and I—used to speculate on some chemical which would enter the blood and kill off germs without injuring the body cells. Salvarsan, which came in my time, did the trick for syphilis, but the nearest we came to anything for ordinary germs was mercurochrome, which we used to give for blood poisoning. It ended the lives of only about twice as many blood poison victims as would have gone ordinarily, and the experience made us suspicious.

Then came the sulfa drugs with their overwhelming success in just this field, and now a new drug, penicillin, which seems to be in many ways even better than the sulfa drug. It seems to me a great credit to the medical profession that right at the time they had found a germicidal drug which worked in vivo, when another came along they started with equal enthusiasm to go over all the same clinical investigations on the new one.

We were told a decade ago that no new medical discoveries would be made by accident—only by planned experiment—but the discovery of penicillin was an accident. In 1929 Dr. Alexander Fleming, a London bacteriologist, noticed that some of his plate cultures of the germ staphylococcus (the pus producer) were contaminated by a mold, and that on the plates where the mold grew, the staphylococci did not grow. Following this up he identified the mold as Penicillium notatum and showed that on both cultures it displayed an inhibitory action on a number of germs both outside and inside the animal body.

Since then researches have advanced our knowledge of this product by leaps and bounds. A suitable method of making a potent extract was found, the proper strength, or dosage, of the drug was determined, its toxic, or dangerous aspects recorded, and its administration was found to be effective only if given by vein, or into the muscle, or topically applied to an open wound. The world generally does not realize how much of this preliminary spade work has to be done before a new preparation can be tried out clinically.

I know little about penicillin, even how to pronounce it, because it is not yet generally available for civilian practice, but many hospital centers of investigation have shown in what kinds of infections it is valuable.

First come the pus infections with staphylococci. The sulfa drugs are effective against pneumonia germs (pneumococci) and streptococci, which cause certain kinds of blood poisoning, but not very effective against staphylococci. Now for staphylococci—boils, carbuncles, infected bone (osteomyelitis), middle ear disease and several other forms of staphylococcic infection, penicillin is an effective killer. For these it has been called bacterial dynamite.

Against pneumonia and meningitis and gonococci infection it is also very effective.

Also against a number of rare infections of only occasional interest to the layman—the gas-forming germ, bacillus Welchii, anthrax, lock jaw, bacillus subtilis, etc. It has been favorably reported in the treatment of a few cases of syphilis.

It has theg reat advantage over the sulfa drugs that it is less toxic even when given in doses far above what is necessary for therapeutic results.

5 Marion Area WAVES Complete Boot Training

The Marion Navy Recruiting Station today reported that five WAVES from the Marion area will spend their first week-end liberty in New York this week after completing their "boot training" at the Naval Training School, New York.

Betty Mae Weaver and Elizabeth Ann Johnson of Marion, Edna Mae Musselman of Kenton, Evelyn Lucille Bender of Waldo and Mrs. Paul I. Monnette of Richwood left Marion to begin their training on February 9.

Betty Mae Weaver and her brother William, seaman first class, who is in New York will have their shore liberty together. Paul Monnette will go to New York to spend his "boot leave" with his wife, Mary. Mr. and Mrs. Monnette were the first couple from this area to join the Navy together.

County Cancer Control Chairmen Appointed

Appointments of new captains for nine Ohio counties have been announced by Miss Bell Greve, state commander of the Ohio Division Women's Field Army for the control of cancer. Mrs. H. K. Mouser of 131 South Prospect street, is the newly appointed Women's Field Army Captain for Marion county. In Delaware county, the new captain is Mrs R. S. Harding of Delaware.

These new units will arrange for observance of National Cancer Control Month in April in their communities. By means of literature, speakers, film showings and publicity the public will be told that early cancer often is curable.

Miami to India Air Route in Operation

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, March 10 — The ferrying division of the air transport command announced today the operation of a scheduled "several-times-weekly" cargo air service between Miami, Fla., and India.

The 28,000 mile round trip requires slightly more than eight days, said Col Temple G Bowen, of Fort Worth, Tex., in charge of foreign transport operations.

Lt. Col. Joseph C. Mackey of Columbus, O., one-time ferrying pilot for the Royal Canadian Air Force and veteran of more than 20 Atlantic flights, is in charge of Miami terminal operations.

Describing the route as the "longest regularly-scheduled" in the world, Col. Bowen said service was inaugurated last Nov. 16.

High-priority cargo, including plane parts, are transported, he said.

Lt Col. Mackey, in charge of the Miami ferry terminal, is well-known in Marion, having flown at numerous air shows while operating an airport at Findlay.

The Stars Say—

For Saturday, March 11

THIS DAY may be memorable for a sudden and unexpected descent upon routine affairs of an event at once adventurous, romantic, progressive, as well as dramatic and thrilling. It may come with whirlwind force and land one on his feet in some far distant place or in strange surroundings, with new associates, fresh ideas and plans and programs quite out of the ordinary. This exceptional state of affairs call for much sound judgment and discretion and not impetuosity, emotional excitement or other unrestrained activities. Keep calm and circumspect.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year in which the exceptional, extraordinary and not anticipated may materialize, with sudden and breath taking activity, high adventure, romance, new contacts and associations, as well as fresh fields of operation, brilliant ideas and unusual programs. All this enlivening the personal as well as business and intellectual life, with dramatic situations and emotional thrills. But be prudent, self contained for best returns.

A child born on this day should have many exceptional talents, with creative ability, scientific, inventive, assuring a romantic and adventurous career.
